FIRST EDITION.

THE BUSINESS MEN'S CALL.

Elsewhere will be found a call from over five hundred of our leading merchants and workingmen, for a public meeting, in which the representatives of the commercial and industrial interests of our community may express their feeling in reference to the important political canvass which is now engaging attention in the nation and State. As will be seen by the announcement, the signers to the paper express their great interest in the success of the Republican cause in the nation as represented by our standard-bearer Gen. Grant, and as Pennsylvanians, especially regard the contest in their own State as one of importance, in its bearing on the national result. At such a time, they feel that it is extremely important that our Commonwealth should unmistakeable array itself on the side of Republican men and measures, and they therefore regard the success of Gen. John F. Hartranft, and with him the whole State ticket, as for the best interest of the people. Especially are they outspoken in their faith in the ability, honesty, and efficiency of our gallant Gubernatorial candidate, manifested in the past, and their further confidence that in the future, when called to preside over the affairs of our Commonwealth he will be found in every sense worthy of that high and sacred trust. Holding such views they earnestly advocate his election, for the good of Republicanism in Pennsylvania, and as an incidental aid to national success, and therefore they ask, business men generally in sympathy with their opinions to assemble that their views may be concentrated and summarized, and their position thereby more distinctly defined.

The candid reader will observe in this call two important points:

First, is the fact that the signers represent very largely and in every case prominently, the business and industrial interests of our great community—its bankers, manufacturers, workingmen of every class and business men generally.

Second. That the signers in the majority of instances are gentlemen who have seldom taken any active part in any political canvass, but have always given expression to their views, by their votes, not under the influence of any temporary enthusiasm, but under the inspiration of a firm devotion to principle.

We say it,—and we challenge contradiction—that such a strong call has never been issued in this section of the State. We ask any candid, fair minded man to examine the list, and then ask himself if it does not,—even laying aside its numbers,—carry with it a moral weight to which the test of numbers cannot be applied.

Another significant circumstance, connected with this case, was its spontaneity. The proposition, for the meeting was only mentioned Tuesday afternoon, and yet such was the genuine and hearty enthusiasm with which it was received that in less than twenty-four hours, five hundred gentlemen had attached their signatures while the number, had time allowed, might as easily have been thousands.

The movement however hardly needs comment—it speaks so well for itself—and we leave it to the consideration of the people, with the prediction that, though weighty as it now seems, the demonstration on Friday evening will show in an immeasurably larger degree, that our business men and hardy toilers are fully alive to an appreciation of the issues before them; that they will be true to their men and principles; and that slander, defamation, and vituperation, cannot blind them to the truth,—cannot shake their confidence, in the justness of their cause and in one who has proven himself on the field and in official life, as soldier, and as civilian, worthy of their highest esteem.

UNIONTOWN.

A Dem-Lib. Blow-off—Grand Republican Torchlight Procession—From Four to Six Hundred Voters in Line—Contest for State Senator—Feeble Old Man Knocked Down and Badly Injured.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

UNIONTOWN, October 2, 1872.

The Dem-Libs. had a meeting and torchlight procession in our town last Saturday evening. There were ninety-three torches, carried by old and young—twenty-eight of them not yet voters. And then they had a blow-off in the court room. The first speaker—Monaghan—did well, according to their reports, but he only gave a rehash of the slanders and calumnies that constitute their sole stock in trade during the campaign. If they were not so intent on regaining office, the more intelligence would surely tire of such stuff and retire in disgust.

The second speaker, Gen. A. B. McCalmont, about whom they had made a great blow because he had made them a pretty good speech four years since, this time made almost a fizzle, and some of them more than intimated that his failure was caused by a true free indulgence in the use of Gratz Brown's stewed watermelon.

REPUBLICAN TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION.

On Monday evening our Grant, Wilson and Hartranft Marching Club came out with their torches to excel the torch light of the Dem.-Libs., and they did. In the front came some thirty on horse-back, then came a "four-in-hand," next a band, followed by one hundred and sixty eight bearing torches, and a considerable number without torches, and then the colored Grant and Wilson club brought up the rear, with fifty voters in line, and would have had thirty more if they had not run out of torches. The club banner, borne in front of those on foot, made a splendid appearance. The number of those marching has been variously estimated from four to six hundred, and the streets were crowded with hundreds of others, who would have been in line if they had been provided with torches. The Dem.-Libs. will try to beat that on Friday evening, but will have hard work to do so.

CONTEST FOR STATE SENATOR.

The contest for State Senator in this district has been a three-cornered one until this week. Mr. Bowley, of Greene county, has withdrawn from the contest. G. W. K. Minor, Esq., our candidate, is not in the least daunted or discouraged, but is continuing the fight against the fearful odds of twenty-four hundred majority which the Democrats have heretofore had in the district, and if the Republicans stick to him and bring out their full vote in his favor, he will undoubtedly make a fair showing.

TOLL GATE KEEPER ASSAULTED.

Some scoundrel, who almost deserves lynching, last evening knocked down Mr. Boren, the toll gate keeper, a very feeble old man, and injured him so badly that it is feared he will not recover. The scoundrel's intention is supposed to have been the securing of the toll money, but he secured none so far as can be discovered. Mr. B. is unable to give any account of the matter. There are parties out after the villain and it is hoped they will secure him and lodge him in jail at least. "Q."

GENERAL POLITICS.

AMES CLARK, Jr., was nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Third New Jersey District.

THE new ticket in Arkansas creates a great stir throughout the State. So far as heard from it is well received. Active canvassing is to be commenced at once.

A CONVENTION of Straight-Out Democrats was held last Tuesday evening at Apollo Hall, New York, and delegates were elected to the State Convention to be held at Albany.

AT a meeting of the Reform party in New York, on Tuesday evening, Smith E. Shaw accepted the nomination for Mayor recently tendered him by the Reform organization.

THE New York Democratic and the Liberal Republican General Committees last Tuesday night indicated a desire for the union of the two organizations in the choice of a local ticket.

CARL DAENZER, editor of the St. Louis Anzeiger des Westens, who has been serving as a member of the Democratic County Committee, while refusing to support Greeley for the Democratic State ticket, has resigned.

THE Rhode Island Republican State Convention nominated Presidential Electors. The Republican Convention for the Eastern District nominated Benjamin T. Eames for Congress. The Convention for the Western District nominated Jas. M. Pendleton.

A SUB-COMMITTEE of the Reform Association of New York, consisting of Col. W. R. Vermilye, C. F. Simpson, E. C. Root, Thomas C. Freeborn, S. V. R. Cooper, Charles M. Hall, R. B. Roosevelt, John Foley, Meyer Stein, and others, met yesterday, and named a committee of fifteen, with Judge Pierrepont as chairman, to wait on W. F. Havemeyer next Monday evening, and tender him the nomination for Mayor, on behalf of the various reform organizations of the city.

THE Reform gathering which nominated Havemeyer for Mayor of New York on Tuesday evening was slimly attended. The representatives of the German Reform organization withdrew on account of the precipitancy of the nomination. The World says that it is understood that the choice of the leaders of the Reformed Tammany has settled upon Butler Duncan, a prominent banker. The Tribune says that Henry G. Stebbins and Controller Green waive their claims in favor of Duncan. The Sun adheres to the name of Alexander T. Stewart for the Mayoralty.

THE Democratic Convention of the Third Missouri Congressional District met again in St. Louis yesterday, pursuant to adjournment. The bolting delegation from the Tenth ward was not present. A resolution designed to harmonize the conflicting elements by rescinding the action of the Convention which caused the bolt, and asking the Central Committee to order a new election for delegates in the Ninth ward, was introduced, but defeated. A communication was received from Bryon McClemens, declining to be a candidate. That gentleman was nominated, however, on the second ballot, and a committee was sent to inform him of the fact. Mr. McClemens still insisted upon declining, and the Convention adjourned to Saturday, when another nomination will be made.

NEW BRIGHTON RALLY.

Mass Meeting at Broadway Hall.

Hon. H. Bucher Swoope Again on the Platform.

Scathing Review of Senator Doolittle.

All About the Yerkes Pardon.

The Lie Direct Given to Alex. McClure.

A Rousing Meeting.

The Republicans of New Brighton, last evening held a grand rally at Broadway Hall. At an early hour the spacious hall was filled to overflowing, there being a large number of ladies in the audience.

The meeting was organized by the selection of the following officers:

President.—Geo. S. Barker.

Vice Presidents.—Scudder H. Darragh, Benj. Wilde, David Johnston, Henry Phillis, Wm. H. Frazier.

Secretaries.—F. S. Reader, I. B. Hays.

Hon. H. Bucher Swoope was introduced and was received with great applause. The Chairman of the meeting on behalf of the ladies of New Brighton presented the distinguished speaker with a beautiful boquet. The speech of Mr. S. after acknowledging the compliment was as follows:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen,—I remember with a great deal of pleasure, my former visit to your town, and the kind manner in which I was greeted and treated by you when I was here, in pursuance then of the direction of the State Central Committee, to discuss the issues involved in the Presidential contest. I come to-night in response to the invitation of a number of citizens of New Brighton, to reply to a speech made here last Friday evening, by Ex-Senator Doolittle, of Wisconsin, with a report of which I have been furnished.

I am glad, my fellow citizens, to be able to say to you that the news from all parts of this great old Commonwealth is of the most auspicious character. I regard this battle as fought and the victory as won, and that nothing remains but to do the voting next Tuesday, count the ballots, and announce the result, which will be the election of John F. Hartranft, by a majority of more than 50,000. [Cheers.] I shall have occasion to speak to you of the questions involved in the State canvass, and to some extent of the candidate on the other side.

SENATOR DOOLITTLE REVIEWED.

I inquire first how Mr. Doolittle comes to be making speeches for the Democratic candidates for President and Governor.

The speaker read quite a lengthy extract from an article in the New York Tribune, written by H. G. which initials he supposed stood for Horace Greeley. In this article he took occasion to say that the Wisconsin Democracy had been proud in their despair to forward the claims of J. R. Doolittle, and the query was propounded, "What sort of Democracy have they in Wisconsin, and that his nomination showed the desperate straits to which the party was reduced."

Think of that from Horace Greeley. (Laughter.) Yet the Democracy has been compelled to swallow all that Horace Greeley has said about them and his white hat and [illegible], and if their digestion is not impaired before they get through this campaign, it will be a wonder. (Cheers.) But that is not all about Mr. Doolittle. In 1861 he was a Senator of the United States, and a member of the Military Committee of the Senate. Cotton was then an exceedingly scarce commodity. It was hard to get, the relations existing between the north and south regarding certain blockades rendered it exceedingly difficult to get cotton. If a permit could be obtained from the President or Military Commander, it was supposed to enable a man to make a fortune. One Connatta tried the scheme and failed. He then applied to Senator Doolittle, who through his influence with President Lincoln, obtained a permit. Then Doolittle wrote a letter which he caused Connata to copy and sign and which was addressed to himself from Connata.

The speaker here read those letters which have been published, and commented on them quite freely, exposing the entire transaction as detailed by Connatta and supported by no less documentary evidence than the first draft of the first letter in the hand writing of Mr. Doolittle himself, in which he stipulated for one-fourth part of the spoils. All the various points of the great "job" of the distinguished Senator were commented on at a considerable length in a racy manner, saying what do you think of that for a United States Senator or a member of the Committee on military affairs, and the gentleman who addressed you last Friday night. The documentary evidence of the transaction is in existence and Mr. Doolittle dare not and has not denied the matter. He engaged in those speculations and rendered Connotta all the assistance necessary to perfect their transaction—this United States Senator; this man who went about the country preaching reform and telling about civil service reform. This man took a bribe and sold his honor when he ought in the high position of United States Senator to be like Cæsar's wife "above suspicion." Standing upon the floor of the United States Senate a position which has no superior upon the face of the earth he deliberately prostituted his high position and sold it for gold and no goes about the country prating of reform, talking about honesty and making lying attacks upon President Grant about receiving gifts. This is the gentleman who addressed you last Friday evening. I might say more about him but I think that is sufficient.

In his speech he says he advocates Mr. Buckalew, another reformer [laughter] because he is his personal friend. That is not much to Buckalew's credit [renewed laughter.] He says of him: "He stood in the Senate of the United States for six years, and I have never known in that body of men a more faithful, honest and patriotic man than Buckalew." Well, Doolittle! That is another yarn and you cannot help knowing it. It was impossible for him not to know that Charles R. Buckalew stood in the Senate and registered vote after vote against his country; vote after vote against soldiers in the field; vote after vote calculated to dishonor his country's flag; vote after vote to give aid and comfort to the enemies of his country, who were in arms to destroy it, and then he left his seat in the Senate to give aid and comfort to the enemies of his country in Columbia county, where they had entered into a conspiracy to resist the draft—a conspiracy which it required troops to suppress.

Honest and patriotic! Why, my fellow-cizens, let me give you a single instance of his conduct in the Senate. The State of Pennsylvania became oppressed with the heavy expenditures she made during the war in organizing the Pennsylvania Reserves and her money was all gone and it became necessary that the Treasury should be reinbursed to enable business to go on. Gov. Curtin and Wm. H. Kemble then State Treasurer, went to Washington to get a bill passed to refund this money to the State. They called upon Senator Wilson and he said if you will get your Democratic Senator to get up and explain this bill and that is is necessary to pass it, it will go through. They then called upon Buckalew and he agreed to explain it at the expiration of the morning hour, when Senator Wilson called it up. Fifteen minutes before the time arrived Buckalew left his place in the Senate, but thanks to Senator Wilson the bill was passed. They hunted Buckalew, and when they found him he was in the Congressional Library, with his heels up smoking a cigar. He vacated his seat and ran away from the discharge of his plain duty and refused to assist in securing the payment of money to his own State which was due her. "He was honest and patriotic," says Doolittle. What do you think of that for patriotism?

BUCKALEW'S RECORD.

The Senatorial record of Mr. Buckalew was then reviewed at great length. He had opposed the payment of bounties to volunteers. On the 11th of May, 1864, the national banking act was put upon its passage. It was unnecessary to recall the condition of the cunning of the country at that time and the necessity of such a banking system as under the Republican rule had given us a uniform basis. When that act came up Charles R. Buckalew voted no. He wished to keep the worthless currency in existence that he might aid the enemies of the government and bring financial ruin on the country. On the 19th of January, 1766, a bill was introduced to relieve the sufferers by the late Portland fire. Buckalew cold as an icicle and without a spark of human kindness in his heart, voted "no." He refused to assist a stricken people. On the 25th of July, 1868, just after the war, when the country was in financial trouble, a bill was introduced to increase the salaries of Senators, and Mr. Buckalew voted "yes." [Laughter.] In 1867 he voted against a bill to import breeding animals free of duty, a bill in which farmers were interested, and he voted "no." He stuck to the old Allegheny pigs. On the 21st of March, 1868, he voted nay on the motion to suspend the proceedings which had been instituted for the payment of slaves drafted into the United States army. He wanted to pay the slave-holders for slaves drafted into their country's service. Yet he is a patriot, according to Doolittle. How can you, as honest, candid men, endorse such a record as that? Will you vote for such a man as that? (Cries of "no," and cheers.) I might go on and show you his record in the Pennsylvania Senate, and that he has been constant in the same course. When Doolittle stood here and said "this man Buckalew is a patriot," he simply lied. (Cheers.)

What do you think of such a record as that? Yet, in the face of it Mr. Doolittle wound up his eulogy by reading the letter of Governor Curtin to McClure, which is very much such a letter as Connata wrote to Doolittle. You recollect Doolittle wrote the letter to Connata and sent it to Connata to write to him; so McClure wrote a letter to Curtin and sent it to Curtin to write to him. [Laughter.]

Mr. Swoope then referred to the Curtin's course, stating that the man who was now so false to the party had been honored by it. Upon the subject of the Cincinnati Convention which had been referred to Doolittle in his speech as a "movement of the people," the speaker said what a pretty class of people they were. It had stated in the interest of the free trade clique of mission and ended by nominating a life long protectionist. It was simply a gathering of political soreheads and run by the worst class of wire pullers, such as McClure. Then the Baltimore Convention was called another movement of the people, when it was simply a cheat and a fraud. The contrast between Greeley and Grant, was referred to and an eloquent tribute paid to the greatest captain of the age who had been no less great in peace than in war. His victors were received from Chickamauga, where he called out the men for a review as soon as he took command, and sent the legions of Bragg flying from what they deemed an impregnable position, to the time that he received the surrender of the armies of the rebellion. It was impossible to do justice to such a subject.

REPLY TO A QUESTION.

Mr. Swoope stated since he had arrived in New Brighton he had been asked to explain the sixteenth resolution of the Philadelphia platform, it having been stated that it meant anti-temperance legislation. He read the resolution and said whatever the opinion of the author might be, the National Convention when they passed it certainly did not intend that it should bear upon the temperance issue. A National Convention had nothing to do with matters which belonged purly to State governments. Could it be expected that such a convention would enter into affairs connected with municipal governments? What the convention meant by the resolution was this; it meant to state its opinions in reference to the doctrines inculcated by John C. Calhoun, and adopted as the creed of the Democratic party, and who ever heard of John C. Calhoun, as a temperance lecturer. [Laughter and Cheers.]

THE YERKES MATTER FULLY EXPLAINED.

The Speaker then proceeded to a discussion of the Yerkes matter, briefly reviewing the circumstances of the case, setting forth the history the main points of which were given in his speech at City Hall, and repeating that the State had been re-imbursed by Mr. Mackey through the existence of friends, for all losses sustained by the Yerkes failure. The practice of distributing the funds of the State Treasury among different banks on deposit, had prevailed for many years, and in some respects was beneficial as it kept the money in circulation in different parts of the State, and in this respect was of use. The State Treasurer and his bondsmen were responsible, the security of that official having been increased from $80,000 to $500,000. The Constitutional Convention would settle the matter brought before it when it assembled and then some other method perhaps could be devised, which would be better. The present plan was not the best that could be adopted, still it was better than to have the money all lying in Harrisburg.

A brief history was given of the trial of Yerkes and the statement made that his failure was owing to the Chicago failure. Taking all the facts into consideration, a strong effort had been made by the leading people of Philadelphia to secure the pardon of Charles T. Yerkes, Jr., the speaker had become convinced that justice demanded his pardon as well as that of Mr. Marcer, City Treasurer, and gave the following statement of the affair which embodies several new points and gives the lie to a telegram from A. K. McClure that those statements of Mr. Yerke's were not sworn to before Mayor Stokely.

In the meantime I was announced to make a speech at the Wigwam in Philadelphia. I saw Gen. Hartranft the day I was to make the speech, and said to him, "General, is it possible that you have no denial of those affidavits of Charles T. Yerkes?" Said he, "certainly I have a denial in those two letters from him, one dated the 19th of August, and the other the 27th of August." Said I, "give them to me and I will read them at the Wigwam to-night." I read them.

(The speaker here read the letters which denied the genuineness of the affadavit before Alderman Dougherty, and the statements which had been made public about Gen. Hartranft's speculating with the funds of the State.)

After I made that speech and read those letters in Philadelphia I received a letter from Mr. Yerkes asking me to call and see him in prison. I had great hesitation about doing this as I had been employed as counsel adverse to him. Moreover, I did not wish to be mixed up in the thing any more, and I thought the denial ought to be sufficient. But upon considering that he had asked me me to call and see him, I determined to do it, and I said to Mayor Stokely, of Philadelphia, if he would go with me I would visit Mr. Yerkes at the Penitentiary, as I did not wish to go alone. We called upon him and he said to me: "I saw the paper containing your speech and that you had read two of my letters I sent to Gen. Hartranft. It is true that affidavit is a forgery, and Gen. Hartranft has had no dealings with me that were not perfectly legitimate and honorable. His account kept with me was his private account, the same as any other man's." Said he, "I propose to explain this matter," and he had commenced a statement, which he read, and I made no suggestions, as the Mayor will testify.

Said I: "Mr. Yerkes that is right; I think you ought to vindicate Gen. Hartranft if the charges are false." I told him I had changed my mind since I came to Philadelphia, and would be glad to see the Governor before I returned to Pittsburgh, and that the pardons ought to be granted. We left the prison and Mayor Stokely urged me to go to Harrisburg. I telegraphed to Harrisburg and found that Governor Geary was in Annapolis. I telegraphed to him to see me in Philadelphia, if he could pass through there on his return home. He replied that he should return directly to Harrisburg. I went then on Friday morning and laid before Governor Geary the views entertained by the people of Philadelphia, and told him what I thought about the case, and urged the immediate granting of the pardons. He finally concluded to grant them. They were granted and issued. Said he: "I am going to send these down by my private Secretary, and I have made a condition that there shall be no consideration or inducement held out in procuring those pardons. He said: "I would like to have you go with my private secretary and see that those pardons are delivered and that no promise is made; that nothing of the kind takes place." I did return to Philadelphia with his private secretary. Thinking it proper that the Mayor should be there I telegraphed to him to come out to the depot with a carriage, without saying anything about the pardons. On arriving in Philadelphia, we were met by the Mayor, got into a carriage, were driven to the penitentiary, and the pardons there given. Mr. Yerkes stated that he wished to go home and see his family, but that he wished me to take charge of these papers and have them published. Said he: "Take them to such newspaper offices as you think proper, and I will come down and see to it after I go home and see my family." He took those affidavits and was sworn by the Mayor. The oath was administered in my presence. I saw him sign his name!

I took the papers to the North American office and handed them to the editor of that paper informing him that this was the statement of Mr. Yerkes.

At this point the ten o'clock train, which was the last for the night and the one upon which Mr. Swoope expected to return to the city was due, and our reporter was compelled to leave without the concluding account of the affair. Mr. Swoope stated to the audience that he expected to return to the city, but now that he was fairly upon the subject, he would remain and discuss the issues of the canvass even if he had to stay all night. (Cheers.)

AN ATTACK ON GEN. IRWIN.

Just before the train left our reporter learned that Mr. S. was riddling the record of Gen. Irwin, ex-State Treasurer, in a way that worked the audience up to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. He said that in 1861, after Mr. Lincoln's election, Irwin wrote a letter to Senator Cowan wanting to be appointed United States Marshal for this district, and offering to buy the Senator a pair of matched horses if he would give him his aid. This was a fine Liberal Republican to talk of civil service reform. He also wrote a letter which the speaker had in his possession to Don Cameron, asking that gentleman to see if he could not get him appointed Collector of Customs at Pittsburgh, and saying that he would be willing to work in the Republican harness if it could be done. The speaker had also been handed a letter since he entered the hall. This letter advocated the election of John Scott and in it Irwin said he would withdraw from the contest for State Treasurer if his being a candidate would in any way damage the prospects of Scott.

SECOND EDITION.

Four O'Clock.

KITTANNING.

A Glorious Rally in Old Armstrong.

The Town Invaded by a Fraternal Army.

The Mass Convention a Grand Success.

Torchlight Procession, Illuminations and Brilliant Pyrotechnic Display.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

KITTANNING, PA., October 2, 1872.

The old borough of Kittanning has never heretofore witnessed such a demonstration as that with which her people have been favored to-day. When the idea of a mass meeting here was first contemplated by the Republicans of Armstrong county, they went to work with a will, and great expectations were entertained of the result of their efforts, but even the most sanguine never anticipated such a glorious success.

The delegations began to arrive early in the morning and all day long the visitors continued to pour in upon every train, in wagons and hundreds of vehicles, and on foot, until the town was literally overrun with strangers.

It was originally intended to have a grand mass meeting with speeches from a number of distinguished gentlemen, but when the crowd became so immense this feature of the programme was found impracticable and attention was turned principally to the evening procession, for which the most extensive preparations had been made.

The enthusiasm in relation to this feature of the demonstration was considerably increased by the arrival of the delegation from Pittsburgh, which numbered about 800 men. The clubs represented being the same as published in the GAZETTE of Wednesday morning. They were headed by the Great Western Band, and arrived here in time, sufficient to procure refreshments and be ready for the procession.

The procession this evening was a grand affair. There were fully three thousand men in line, bearing torches. The town was illuminated everywhere, and the flags, and banners, and wreaths, and streamers, and mottoes were absolutely bewildering; many of the houses seemed literally draped in bunting.

The procession formed in good order, and moved over a portion of its route, everywhere being received with the wildest enthusiasm.

The pyrotechnic display was gorgeous—no end to rockets and roman candles, all kinds of colored lights, and fireworks of every description. The line moved amid a perfect blaze of light, until the rain came and unfortunately put an end to the display. The showers came down so copiously that it was found necessary to break ranks and at half past eight o'clock this evening, the procession disbanded. The disappointment was very keen at this result but as it was something over which they had no control the people accepted the situation. As it was, however, the display made at first was full reward for all the efforts put forth.

The Pittsburgh delegation will return home by a special train, which will likely get into the city early Thursday morning. J. G. B.

NEW YORK.

Bienville Disaster Investigation—Funeral of Dr. Vinton—Official Squabbles—Female Counterfeiters Arrested.

NEW YORK, October 2, 1872.

MEETING OF NATIONAL RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

The National Rifle Association held a meeting last night, and the arrival of target slabs, etc., from England, for the use of the association, was reported. It was also stated that the work on the Range would shortly be completed.

BIENVILLE DISASTER INVESTIGATION.

The investigation into the burning of the Bienville was resumed to-day. Wm. E. Bloomfield, Stevedore, was examined. The Stevedore denied that there was any powder on board to his knowledge.

Edward H. Lower, a cabin passenger, said there were thirty-two persons in the boat in which he left the steamer. The boat leaked badly in two places. The second mate rowed up to them, and though they told him they were sinking, he put four more into their boat, and then they capsized, and the second mate rowed away. Subsequently the boat was righted and they got in. When two miles from the steamer they saw her suddenly blow up. Burroughs, a passenger, told him that the house of Remington & Co., for which he is agent, had a quantity of powder on board, and that the Captain knew it, and that was why he was in such a hurry to leave the steamer. Mr. Boffey, the passenger who was put by the Captain in command of witness' boat, came to him in Nassau with a paper to sign, praising the conduct of the Captain and officers, but he refused, saying he considered the conduct of the second mate murderous. One of the seamen, Peter Barry, told him that when the fire broke out the Captain ordered the crew to reserve a staunch boat and four good oarsmen for himself, and that he would take no excuse for not having good rowers.

COLUMBUS.

Straight-Out Democratic Convention—Democrats Urged to Support O'Conor for President.

COLUMBUS, October 2.—A Straight-out Democratic Convention to nominate an electoral ticket was held in this city to-day, a small number being in attendance. The Convention was called to order by Gen. Joseph H. Geiger. Samuel McKee, of Troy, was chosen Chairman, and Jno. Johns, of Vermont, Secretary.

The Chairman made a short speech, declaring himself unwilling to so forget his Democratic antecedents as to support the nominees of the Cincinnati and Baltimore Conventions. He thought that while Grant was bad, Greeley was worse for the Democrats to support, and urged all the Democrats to support O'Conor. General Geiger also addressed the meeting. He gave at length his reason for bolting, and declared that the straight-outs were the only true Democrats, and urged those who still loved Democratic principles to stand by their own nominees. As but few counties in the State were represented, it was deemed advisable to delay the nomination of electors, and Geiger was appointed a special committee to call a convention for that purpose to meet here on October 11th.

THE ELECTIONS.

Riot in Macon, Ga.

THREE PERSONS KILLED.

Policy of the Democratic-Liberals.

NEGROES DRIVEN FROM THE POLLS.

Georgia.

AUGUSTA, GA., October 2.—The election passed off quietly. Richmond county gives a Democratic majority of 800, being a gain on Bullock's election of over 2,000. The returns come in slowly, and nothing official can be given until to-morrow. There is no doubt of the Democrats carrying the State, securing Smith's election.

MACON, GA., Oct. 2.—A serious riot occurred at the polls in this city this morning, between whites and negroes. It commenced with fisticuff fights and developed into fierce encounters with brick bats and pistols. In the course of a few seconds about fifty shots were fired, by which one white man was killed and five or six negroes wounded, two of whom have since died. The affray lasted but a few minutes, when the negroes left the polls. The whites claim that the whole affair was premeditated on the part of the negroes, that it was their intention to take forcible possession of the polls, and that they originated the disturbance with this object. The negroes, however, claim that they were driven from the polls by violence, and could not get a chance to vote. They were addressed by the Mayor later in the day, who guaranteed them protection, but with few exceptions they refused to vote and went to their homes.

AUGUSTA, October 2.—The returns are coming in slowly. Partial returns from the thirty counties give Smith (Democrat) over fifteen thousand majority. Chatham county gives the Democrats 2,940 majority. Decatur county is carried by the Republicans by 300 majority, and Thomas county by 150 majority.

North Georgia has gone Democratic. It will be impossible to give anything more satisfactory to-night, but there appears to be no doubt that the Democrats have carried the State by 30,000 majority, as a full vote has been polled in every county.

SAVANNAH, GA., October 2.—The Morning News will publish to-morrow returns from thirty-five counties, all of which except two have decided Democratic majorities. The following counties, which are now Democratic and which now give 800 majority for Smith, gave in the Governor's election of 1868 a combined majority of 3,914 for Bullock: Hannocks, Macon, Munroe, Baldwin, Warren, Screven, Pulaski, Talbot, Wilkes, Newton and Troupe.

Returns from all parts of the State show large gains over those of 1868. Smith is re-elected by nearly 50,000 majority.

Delaware.

WILMINGTON, October 2.—Complete returns from all parts of the State of the elections yesterday for Assessor and other local officers give a Democratic majority of 82, being a Republican gain on the vote of two years ago for similar officers.

At Millsboro, Sussex county, Robert Down and Burton Cramfield quarreled at the election polls, and Down shot and mortally wounded Cramfield.

JAPAN.

BURNING OF THE STEAMSHIP AMERICA.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 2.—The steamer China arrived this afternoon. She left Hong Kong on the 27th of August, and Yokohama on September 7th. Among the passengers are twenty-nine officers and crew of the America. Early on Saturday morning, the 24th of August, the America arrived at Yokohama, and during the day landed all her passengers and cargo for that port, and transferred to the Shanghai branch steamer what was for North China. There remained on board the officers and crew, two first-class passengers, the mails, and one hundred and seventy-five Chinese for Hong Kong. At eleven o'clock at night a fire was discovered, which burned till the afternoon of Sunday. She was towed out of the way of the shipping and sunk. Three Americans, fifty-nine Chinamen, besides Japanese, lost their lives. Thirty thousand dollars in treasure were lost. There was a light freight on board. The ship had been coaling during the day. At ten all was reported safe, and the officers retired. A little before eleven the stewardess smelt something burning. Smoke was discovered rising from the freight deck window of the ladies' saloon. An alarm was sounded. Capt. Doane went first into the saloon with hose, but was driven back by the smoke. Furious flames burst forth, deciding the fate of the ship. The smoke prevented the flooding of the magazine. Attention was then turned to the saving of passengers. The Chinamen were aroused. The ladder gave way, precipitating them into the water. Several unsuccessful attempts were made to sink the burning ship by shots from war vessels.

A court of inquiry convened on August 31st, Consul Shephard presiding, assisted by Minister De Long, Captains Shirley and Perry. After hearing the evidence, it was found that the fire apparatus was in good working order. The long time which elapsed before the steam was started denotes want of preparation or tardiness in the engineer's department. If steam to the amount of twenty pounds had been on, with the donkey engine at the time the alarm was given first in proper condition, and with proper expedition used in working, the fire might have been extinguished and the ship saved. Praise is justly due the officers and crew for gallantry and perseverance. The court was convinced that the fire was the result of inattention, and not of accident. An inducement may have been antipathy toward the steamship company or officers, or the fact that the Chinese passengers were supplied with large sums of money.

MEXICO.

BATTLE AT MAZATLAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 2.—The steamer Montana arrived from Guaymas, with news from Mazatlan to September 22d. On the morning of the 13th fifteen hundred Pronunciados demanded the surrender of Mazatlan. General Florres refused, and resolved to defend the post. Two hundred and fifty mounted men, with two pieces of artillery, were stationed three hundred yards in advance. The remainder occupied the powder magazine and barracks. The Pronunciados attacked and drove the defenders in all directions. General Florres jumped off his horse and ran to the sea. No boat was at hand in which to escape, and he was captured. Col. Abo captured many citizens. No Pronunciados were killed. Florres is under a strong guard at the Custom House, and will be tried by court martial, and the Colonel for shooting nine wretches on the 13th of August.

ANARCHY IN SINALOA.

The Governor elect of Sinola was taken prisoner from United States Consul Sisson's house, where he had been hid. Many acts of brutality were committed by the victors since the entry. The whole State of Sinaloa is a total wreck. In Mazatlan most of the importing houses are closed and the goods packed away. Less than a dozen houses within twelve months lost over one-half million dollars, forced from them under the name of loans. The mines have all stopped work except a few taken possession of by the Pronunciados. The country is flooded with copper money, each dollar worth ten cents. Everybody issues coin money. No penalty is enforced.

A private letter says 2,000 Government troops are moving on Durango. Placcido Vaga, with four hundred troops, is advancing on Pesquiera, Sonora. Porfirio Diaz, and Generals Manquaz, Palacios, and others are at Chihuaha.

GREAT BRITAIN.

TERRIBLE RAILWAY COLLISION.

LONDON, October 2.—A terrible accident happened this morning to a passenger train from this city for Edinburgh. While running at a rapid speed it came in collision, near Kirtle bridge, with a freight train, causing the instant death of nine persons. Many others are injured. It is feared several of them will die.

The dispatches state that the train was late and running at a furious rate to make up lost time. The scene of the disaster is not far from Carlisle, the capital of Cumberland county.

SPEECH BY THE SOLICITOR GENERAL.

In a speech made by George Jessa, Solicitor General, at Dover last night, the speaker dwelt at some length on the operations of the new ballot law, and congratulated his hearers that England was at peace with all nations. He declared that the award of the Geneva Arbitration should be paid within one year without increasing the taxes of the country.

SPAIN.

BURNING OF THE MONASTERY OF ESCURIAL.

MADRID, Oct. 2.—A dispatch from the town of Escurial, twenty-four miles northwest of this city, announces that the celebrated monastery of Escurial was struck by lightning this evening. The building was quickly on fire, and so rapid was the progress of the devouring element that the dome and tower of the magnificent edifice have already fallen. The royal palace, with its splendid display of books and paintings and rare and costly manuscripts is now in flames, and at the date of this dispatch there is apparently little prospect of saving from destruction the mausoleum as well as the summer residence of the Spanish Kings. A brigade of engineers, fully equipped with material for use in such emergencies, has left Madrid for Escurial.

FRANCE.

DEPOPULATION OF ALSACE AND LORRAINE.

PARIS, October 2.—The departures from Alsace and Lorraine of inhabitants who decline to assume German citizenship are upon an immense scale. It is estimated that eighty-eight thousand emigrating Alsatians will take up their residence in Nancy alone, while large numbers will go to other places.

PARIS, October 2.—Eighteen thousand persons left Metz during the last fortnight to seek homes under French jurisdiction. The population of that city now numbers only ten thousand.

UNIVERSAL EXPOSITION AT VIENNA.

In the course of a long conversation yesterday with a gentleman not in public life, the President referred to the coming Universal Exposition at Vienna next May, and hoped that a good representation of American art and industry might be found in competion with the products of European skill, even if no Government aid has been granted to exhibitors as in other countries. He also declared his intention of asking in his forthcoming message to Congress for a sufficient appropriation to send a delegation of American workingmen to Vienna, under the direction of the United States commissioner, for the purpose of reporting upon the progress of the industrial arts in Europe, as revealed by the Exposition, the delegates to be selected by the various branches of industry to be represented and nominated to the Government for approval.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

In the northwest, Mississippi and Ohio valleys, and on the upper lakes, the barometer will probably fall, and the temperature increase, with cloudy weather and southerly to westerly winds in the Gulf and South Atlantic States; winds southerly to westerly, with generally clear and warmer weather, from the lower lakes to Virginia and eastward; south-westerly to south-easterly winds, with cloudy weather and occasional light rains on Lake Erie and southward to West Virginia, but generally clear weather in the Middle and Eastern States.

GERMAN NAVAL VISITORS.

Captains Areudt and Batsh, commanding the German ships of war, Gazelle and Vienta, were at the Treasury Department to-day, and visited the bureaus of the department.

GENERAL GRANT'S HABITS.

What the Organizer of the Christian Commission, of War Times, Says.

[From the Rochester Democrat, Sept. 27.]

We are permitted to publish the following letter from the widely known philanthropist and organizer of the Christian Commission, which did such humane service during the war—George H. Stuart. Miss. Gurnsey is a highly esteemed lady of this city, who enjoys the personal acquaintance of Mr. Stuart, and knew that that gentleman was thoroughly informed with regard to the habits of President Grant. Hence she dispatched a note to him and received this reply:

PHILADELPHIA Sept. 25, 1872.

Miss LUCY E. GURNSEY, Rochester, N. Y.:

DEAR MISS GURNSEY—In reply to your communication, in which you say "it is commonly reported here that the President is in the habit of getting stupidly drunk every day; I know you are well acquainted with him and should be glad to have the story contradicted on good authority," I have to say that since General Grant became commander of the American army, and during his Presidency, I have had frequent opportunities of seeing him at the front, in social intercourse, at dinner table, in the White house and elsewhere, and have never seen him "stupidly drunk," or under the influence of liquor in any sense of the phrase. So far as my observation enables me to judge, the statements which have been so freely circulated about President Grant's habits are wholly without foundation, and a base slander upon the character of one to whom the country owes a debt of gratitude which can never be paid. In November next the Keystone State will record her verdict against these personal calumnies by giving Grant her electoral vote by a majority of 30,000 to 40,000. GEORGE H. STUART.

SECRETARY BOUTWELL spoke in Evansville Indiana, last evening, to a very large audience at the Republican wigwam. He spoke principally of the financial policy of the administration, and had a large number of Democrats as auditors.

POLITICAL.

TO THE BUSINESS MEN, MERCHANTS, MANUFACTURERS, AND THE WORKINGMEN OF Pittsburgh, Allegheny AND VICINITY:

The impending political crisis is one of unprecedented importance to the entire business interests of the nation.

Never before in the history of our country were its grand resources being so wondrously and prosperously developed; never before has its domestic and foreign business been so productive and expansive, amazing the world with its enterprise and progress.

This is unquestionably the legitimate result of the wise and judicious legislation of Republican rule, represented by that

First Captain of the Age, GEN. ULYSSES S. GRANT,

And the security of capital, the prosecution of industrial pursuits, and the prosperity of the people, demand the continuance of the present successful administration.

To promote this result, we deem it extremely important that the State of Pennsylvania should unmistakably array itself on the side of Republican men and Republican measures, and having thoroughly and candidly examined the record of

Major. Gen. John. F. Hartranft,

And been convinced of the falsity of the charges against his integrity, which have been made the staple of the present campaign against him, are fully prepared to heartily and unreservedly promote his election to the Chief Magistracy of this great Commonwealth.

To this end, we invite you to come together in a

"DR. PAINE remained in the city nearly a week," says the Post. But he got out of the city with remarkable suddenness when Swoope arrived, and the Yerkes statement was published.

WHO has ever seen a denial of the various specific charges of disloyalty made against Buckalew? And who knows of a single charge against Hartranft that has not been both denied and disproven?

REPUBLICANS, WORK, from now until Tuesday next, if you would not have the government of the nation go back into the hands of the rebels who sought its life, and the government of the State into the hands of men whose sympathies were with the rebels all through the dismal years of our great struggle.

THE Armstrong Republican says the Democrats of that county are active in the effort to trade votes for Grant for votes for Buckalew. We hear of this little game as going on in other parts of the State. We submit this to the Liberal Republicans as an addition to their already overflowing cup of bitterness.

BUCKALEW has held office for twenty years. He is one of those inveterate office-seekers who hope to live forever off the people. It is imagined that Wallace was not particularly sorrowful when the record came to be shown up, as it has served to place him in such a light before the people, that a loyal man cannot vote for him.

AT AN enthusiastic Republican meeting held at Greencastle, Franklin county, on Saturday, Hon. George W. Brewer, of Chambersburg, a life long Democrat, made an eloquent and telling speech, urging the election of Grant, Hartranft, and the whole Republican ticket. Mr. Brewer is a gentleman of great influence in Franklin county.

THE New York Herald says of the protectionism of Grant and Greeley, "they are both protectionists, but Grant is an active and Greeley has become a passive protectionist; which is the difference between a serpent in its summer venom and another in its winter torpor.' Rather uncomplimentary, as applied to their own candidate for the Presidency.

ALL MEN who are in earnest to secure the election of Grant and Wilson should understand that they can help forward that consummation in no way so much as by voting for Hartranft and the whole Republican ticket next Tuesday. A decidedly handsome majority for the Republican candidates at the State election will carry the Presidential issue with a rush, not onyl in Pennsylvania, but throughout the Union.

THE Chicago Times publishes a complete list of the new and permanent business edifices that have been erected, or that are now in progress of erection in the "mint district" of that city. The list foots up 637 buildings at a cost of $40,623,000, or an average of nearly sixty-four thousand dollars per each building. But in addition, outside the burnt district three or four hundred first-class buildings have been put up. Chicago may well say to the world, "match this if you can," but history can't do it.

WE KNEW the Chronicle would eventually level down alongside of the Leader which it has so long affected to despise. Yesteday it came out openly in defense of its dirty little compeer, hoping by its smiling graciousness to defend itself by indirection. This is rather thin. No one has criticised the Leader. The filthy course it usually pursues long since placed it beyond the pale of criticism. Nor was the Dispatch criticised for its matter,—we have rather liked it. Generally it has been as strong and bitter as an earnest Republican sheet had a right to be. But the Chronicle! Alas! how have the mighty fallen.

A PITTSBURGH correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, writing about the political look-out in Allegheny county, makes this boomerang observation:

"When the Germans proposed to celebrate the centennial anniversary of Humbold's birthday, which happened to occur on Sunday, the entire Republican press of the city—religious as well as secular—made a fierce attack upon them, and denounced them as infidels and Sabbath-breakers. All of these causes contributed to convince them that the Republican party, under Ring management, was not only corrupt, but intolerant also."

This veracious chronicler should have interviewed Doctor James King, the Greeleyite candidate for Congress, before sending off his budget. The Doctor might have told him a thing or two.

IT IS astonishing with what impudent pertinacity the charge that General Hartranft is a "thief," is indulged in. The Post hints it broadly, as a proven fact. It was never really charged, much less proven. All that has been alleged is, that he accepted from Evans a proffered loan of $7,000, which he repaid. After this, all is inference and inuendo. It has been charged that he speculated with State funds. Aside from the fact that he did not control State monies, is the circumstance that the transcript of his account published, shows him a cash credit of less than $5,000. Even if the Yerkes statement were not made, the evidence on the latter charge entirely explodes the whole fabric of lies, so laboriously built up.

THAT sell on the Democratic committee and press, that the city was being inundated with imported colored men for voting purposes, is one of the most amusing things of the season. The ever alert chairman of the Democratic county executive committee had begun to supply the press with sensational warnings, and the result is a wonderful amount of alertness on the part of our friends of the opposition. The unfortunate feature of this nice little sensation is, the fact that all the colored people who have come to the city within a few days, are delegates to the Odd Fellows' Convention. We have heard that some ladies are among the number. We hope no fears are entertained that they, in some occult way, will manage to vote, as well as the men. It is about time Mr. Moore and the Post let up on this subject.

WE ARE well persuaded that the most desperate energies of the Democracy are going to turn on the attempt to carry the State Legislature. Of course, they want the Governorship too, if they can get it, but if they can carry but one, they prefer the Legislature, as the United States Senatorship depends upon it. We urge our friends to be on their guard in this direction. We do not elect a Senator in this county this year, but where this is done, very special pains shall be taken to see that no accident shall occur whereby a Democrat or Liberal shall reach office. If the Democrats control the Senate, McClure will be Speaker, and an era of corruption inaugurated such as has been rarely seen. And these things are not mere assertions. McClure has not only been habitually corrupt, but is now. It will be remembered he promised in writing, if Grant were nominated to support him, and by this means gained votes in his senatorial fight. Once in the Senate and he abandoned his pledge. Look to it, that our Legislative candidates are elected.

WE ASK the loyal people of the country to bear in mind the well established fact, that many of our soldiers, who might have reached their homes in safety, failed to do it because of the prolongation of the war of rebellion. And the encouragement which led to continued efforts on the part of the slave power, after all real hope of success had been given up, came from the North. Among those who thus encouraged them, none was more effective than Charles R. Buckalew. He was a Senator of the United States, and had enough influence to inspire the Fishing Club confederacy into existence. This man, by his interviews with rebel commissioners at Niagara, and his letter to the heads of departments at Richmond, helped to inspire them to a continuance of the war. Every month it was thus continued added to our death list. Can a loyal person vote for a person who acted in that manner? We think not.

THE enthusiasm in Allegheny county is actually increasing, and the feeling that the county will do its full duty when election day comes round. This has been the very citadel of the efforts of the opposition, and every element of strength they could combine against us has been brought to bear. Assertions of the most preposterous nature have been repeated, time and again, after they have been exploded. To-day, the most villainous charges are uttered against our candidates, none of which have in them a particle of truth. Yet despite all, the old banner county has gone steadily on, and her vote will show that the effort to produce disaffection has been unsuccessful. The spirit manifested by opposition papers and orators ought to be sternly rebuked. Nothing but virulence and vituperation, abuse and slander has marked their course. Generals Grant and Hartranft are two of the most abused men in the country. Such work on the part of our adversaries will, in the end, be found to have done them no good. They have thought to permeate the minds of the people with the idea that there is corruption, by keeping up a perpetual howl. It will not win.

THE CANVASS in Ohio is now conducted with great energy by the Republicans. Accounts come to us of meetings held nightly in every part of the State at which the utmost enthusiasm is manifested. The Republicans of the State relying on their large and undoubted majority, did not throw much spirit into their canvass until within the last two or three weeks. This apparent apathy seems to have encouraged the Greeleyites, and they put in operation a thorough canvass of the State. This in its turn aroused the Republicans to proper exertion, and they have more than made up for lost time. The Republicans anticipate losses in Cincinnati and some other localities in the State, where there is a heavy German vote, but this will be compensated by the absence from the polls of Democrats who take no stock in the Greeley coalition. Of this class there is a large number in the State. The excitement of a Presidential canvass will also bring out the large reserve of Republican voters who only interest themselves in politics on such occasions. We look to Ohio to maintain its usual Republican majority of fifteen or twenty thousand in October, and to send to Congress fifteen Republican representatives out of the twenty to be elected.

A REPUBLICAN of intelligence writes us that he had heard a Liberal Republican assert that there were five thousand men in Arkansas who could not vote, owing to the non-application of their amnesty. We suppose this foolish idea originated in some misunderstood remarks of Mr. Greeley. He has a theory that because certain persons,—Jeff. Davis and others, numbering a few hundred in all,—are prevented from holding office, that therefore those who would like to vote for them are practically disfranchised,—that is, prevented from voting for the men of their choice. All this is sheer nonsense; but even this admits the real facts. The truth simply is, that every person engaged in rebellion, of lawful age, and who is guilty of no other crime, can vote. A few persons are not permitted to hold office. This is all there is of the matter. There is, in fact, so little of this much talked of oppression, that we will find it hard to discover it at all. What was done in the cases of Southern rebels, was done from considerations of mercy. Had they been tried and convicted of treason, they must have suffered the penalty of death. Congress preferred, knowing they were guilty, to waive formal trial, and simply restrict their political privileges. These restrictions were gradually removed from specified classes, until now there are possibly three hundred perjured rebels, the leaders of the movement, who are simply debarred from holding office. This is all there is in the talk about the Republican party oppressing those who were in rebellion.

"THAT I am a Protectionist all men know, but it is equally true that if a majority of Congress should pass a law not reconcilable with these opinions, I would not exercise the veto power."—Horace Greeley at Easton.

Absolute free trade and direct taxation is what the leading men of the Greeley coalition are striving for, and if elected he pledges himself not to use a particle of the influence or attributes of his office to block their game, or mitigate its unnumbered evils. The Constitution says if he is President, and a bill is presented to him, "if he approve he shall sign it," and it thus becomes the law of the land. But if he does not approve it, "he shall return it, with his objections to the House in which it shall have originated." It then takes a two-third vote of both Houses to make the bill a law. Mr. Greeley, as we have before pointed out, pledges himself to sign a bill, and thus give it the validily of law, which he does not "approve," when the Constitution expressly directs him in such case to return it to Congress with his objections. Yet he says "I am a Protectionist;" and in the same breath pledges himself to violate the Constitution by signing an anti-protection tariff bill that he does not approve. The duty of vetoing a bill which he does not approve is as imperative on the President, under the Constitution, as signing bills that he does approve. The lust for office has induced Mr. Greeley to pledge himself, as we have pointed out, to violate the solemn obligation imposed upon the President, in his oath of office, to "preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

THE HOPE IN GREELEY.

The New York World is, usually, the most dignified and candid of the Democratic press. In advocating Mr. Greeley's election, it says, among other things: "In a party view, we have much to gain by the election of Mr. Greeley. If Grant is reelected every Federal officer will be a Republican; if Greeley is elected a majority of the Federal officers will be Democrats. In Grant's Cabinet Democrats cannot even get a hearing; in Greeley's, they will have a majority of the votes, and will largely influence, if not virtually control, the policy of his Administration. If Greeley is elected, we shall elect with him a majority of the House of Representatives, a majority of the State Governors and State Legislatures, and the local and municipal officers of the States that give him their electoral votes With such a balance of advantages, a Democrat must be idiotic or insane to be indifferent between the election of Grant or Greeley." If the exact effect of Greeley's election was at all misunderstood, it is here made plain.

On what are such hopes as exist of his election based? Be assured, on carrying Pennsylvania for Buckalew. If they cannot do this, all contest over the Presidency ceases. If they should be permitted to accomplish this result, the furious fight, so bitterly carried on in this commonwealth, will be extended to the entire country. This is really why they are making such a desperate effort. We believe the time for careful argument has about passed, yet we hope our friends will not overlook the clear fact that this is their aim and that it will be exceedingly unfortunate for the Republican party to allow them the ghost of an excuse for confidence. The spirit that leads men to fawn upon, and apologize to perjured traitors, needs to be rebuked. The country cannot afford to revive the slightest element of the old rebel spirit. Hence, vote for the full ticket in the State. Give every element of strength to it possible. Fight the battle out on this line, and in four years the country will be so perfectly pacified that there will be no questions of difficulty, touching the rebellion. A vote for Hartranft is half a vote for Grant.

THE GREAT CENTRAL STATES.

The influence of the October elections in the three great States of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, on the Presidential election, has passed into a political maxim, and is sustained by the large vote they poll and the fact that their voting population pretty fairly represents the average of American thinking and acting on political matters. In the three States at the Presidential election of 1868, the aggregate vote was 1,538,022, or very nearly one-fourth the total vote of the Union. The Republican majority was 79,898, while Grant's majority in the Union was 309,578, or very nearly the same proportion as the vote of the three States was to the total vote of all the States.

The congressional nominations having been completed in the three States, we subjoin a list of the candidates to be voted for, together with the vote of past years.

PENNSYLVANIA.

This is probably the most important October election that has ever been held in the State. In addition to the State officers, Congressmen, Legislature and United States Senator involved, delegates will be chosen to the Constitutional Convention under the principle of minority representation. It is the first application of this principle on so extended a scale, we believe, that has ever been made in the Union. The majority either way in the Convention will not be a large one, and as partizan politics will enter very slightly, if at all, into its deliberations, we consider this a great gain in the accomplishment of reforms demanded by the people.

The candidates for State officers are as follows:

	Republican.	Democratic.
Governor	J. F. Hartranft.	Chas. R. Buckalew.
Supreme Judge	Ulysses Mercur.	James Thompson.

The Prohibitionists have nominated as Congressmen-at-large Geo. F. McFarland, A. J. Clark, and B. Rush Bradford, and the Labor Reformers James H. Hopkins and J. W. Cake. In the Tenth District, John W. Killinger, Rep., has also been nominated by the Labor party. Andrew D. Vandling, an influential Democrat of Perry county, is an independent Anti-Greeley candidate for Congress in the fifteenth District. There is a split among the Democrats of the Sixth District. The Montgomery county delegation to their Convention denounce the nomination of Witte as fraudelent, and are again running Ephraim L. Acker, member of the present House.

Pennsylvania's delegation in the present Congress is made up of thirteen Republican, (including one elected by the aid of Democratic votes in the Second District, and eleven Democrats, who were chosen in 1870 by the following vote:

District.	Republican.	Democratic.	Majority.
1	6,705	10,853	4,148 Dem.

The Legislature to be chosen will choose a United States Senator, in place of Hon. Simon Cameron, Republican, whose term expires in 1873. Of the thirty-three members composing the State Senate, eleven are to be elected this Fall, twenty-two holding over, of whom ten are Republicans, eleven are Democrats, and one independent—A. K. McClure, who will act with the opposition, making the Senate stand, practically, ten Republicans to twelve Democrats. Of the eleven districts which elect Senators this Fall, seven gave Republican and four gave Democratic majorities in 1871. Thus, to secure control of the body, the Republicans must carry all these seven districts, or, failing to do so, must make it up by carrying one or more of those which gave majorities against them last Fall. The Legislature as last constituted was composed politically as follows:

	Senate.	House.	Joint Ballot.
Republicans	16	56	[illegible]
Democrats	17	44	[illegible]
	Dem. majority.....1	Rep. maj..12	11

An amendment to the Constitution is to be voted on making the office of State Treasurer an elective one directly by the people instead of by the Legislature.

OHIO.

The candidates for State officers are as follows:

	Republican.	Democratic.
Secretary of State	Allen T. Wikoff.	A. J. Wiley.
Supreme Court Judge	John Welsh.	J. L. Green.
Board Public Works	Richard R. Porter.	I. B. Wiley.

There is also a prohibition ticket that will probably poll two or three thousand votes. The vote of the State at recent general elections has resulted as follows:

	Rep.	Dem.	Rep. Maj.
1871..Governor	238,273	218,105	20,168
1870..Secretary of State	221,709	205,015	16,694

[In 1871 the Temperance Party threw 4,084 votes for its candidate for Governor, and in 1870 it threw 2,863 votes for Secretary of State.]

1869..Governor	236,089	228,581	7,518
1868..Secretary of State	267,065	249,682	17,384
1868..President	280,128	238,700	41,428

The candidates for members of Congress are as follows:

Dist.	Republican.	Democratic.
1.	Benjamin Eggleston,	Milton Sayler.
	Chas. Taft (vacancy),
2.	Rutherford B. Hayes.	Ozro J. Dodds.
3.	John Q. Smith.	Henry B. Banning.
4.	Lewis B. Gunckel,	John W. Cohn.
5.	No nomination.	James J. Winans.

15.	Wm. P. Sprague,	John Berry.
16.	Lorenzo Danford,	R. R. Hudson.
17.	L. D. Woodworth,	C. L. Poorman.
18.	Jas. Monroe.	Richard Brown.
19.	Jas. A. Garfield.	Norton Townsend.
20.	Rich. C Parsons.	Milton Sutliff.
		Selah Chamberlain.

In several of the districts independent or straight-out Democrats are running in opposition to the "regulars." Since the last Congressional election the State has been reapportioned, and has gained one member of Congress. By the vote of 1871, the Democrats only carried five of the new districts, viz: the Fifth, Tenth, Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth. They are tolerably sure of these this year, and the Republicans of the remainder,

There is no Legislature to be chosen in Ohio this year.

INDIANA.

Indiana will elect State officers, Congressmen, members of the Legislature and county officers. There are three tickets in the field, as follows:

	Republicans.	Democrats.
Governor	Thos. M. Browne.	T. A. Hendricks.
Lt. Governor	Leonidas Sexton.	John R. Cravens.
Att'y General	James C. Denny.	Bayless M. Hanna.
Sec. of state	Wm. M. Curry.	Owen M. Eddy.
Audit or	Jas. A. Wildman.	John E. Stoll.

1	Wm. Heilman.	Wm. E. Niblack.	2,250 D.

10	H. B. Saylor.	E. Van Long.	1,909 R.
11	Jasper Packard.	John A. Hendricks.	1,407 R.

The straight Democrats in Indiana have also nominated the following ticket:

Governor—A. P. Edgerton (who has since declined).
Lieutenant Governor—Green Durbin.
Attorney General—Thomas Branham.
Secretary of State—Alfred Parsons.
Auditor—Otto Boetticher.
Treasurer—D. McBride.
Congress at Large—W. C. Moreau and W. F. Sherrod.

Indiana of late years has been a close State, as is shown by the following figures of election results:

	Rep.	Dem.	Majority.
1870—Secretary of State	157,491	160,059	2,568 Dem.
1868—Governor	171,575	170,604	961 Rep.
1868—President	176,552	166,980	9,572 Rep.
1866—Secretary of State	169,601	155,390	14,202 Rep.
1864—Governor	152,084	131,201	20,883 Rep.
1864—President	150,422	130,233	20,189 Rep.

Nebraska also holds an election for State officers and Congressmen on Tuesday. The Republican condidate for Governor is Robert W. Furnas, and the Democretic H. C. Lett; for Congressmen, Lorenzo Crounse, Rep., and Jesse F. Warner, Dem. The Republican majority in the State in 1870 for Governor, in a total vote of 19,774, was 2,478, and on Congressman the same year 4,408. There would seem to be no doubt about this State.

GENERAL NEWS.

LADY FRANKLIN, the widow of the lost arctic explorer, who is aged, almost penniless, and in feeble health, is about to be turned out of home in Kensington Gore, London.

THE Parisians utilize the huge trenches round their fortifications in cultivating potatoes, beets and other garden sauce. Phosphate of communist is said to make an excellent fertilizer, and the supply is almost inexhaustible, as the captives, with Thiers in their eyes, confess.

IN making excavations at Christ Church cathedral, Dublin, lately, Mr. Dooling has, he believes, discovered the remains of Earl Strongbow, who died in 1178. They have been carefully preserved, and will be deposited in their original resting place. The remains of Robert, Earl of Kildare, who died in 1743, have also been found.

HERE is something to make the hair of the Archbishop of Canterbury stand on end. Canon Trevor, writing in the Record in regard to the controversy between Dr. Tait and the "heathen," says: I learn from Professor Garcin de Tassy's 'Revue Annuelle" of Hindostanee Literature for 1871 that there is actually a subscription on foot in Bombay to build a Pagoda in London for the worship of Vishnu and Siva."

THE Boston papers have the following on the dividends payable in that city in October: The aggregate of bank dividends is $2,438,000 on a capital of $49,400,000, against dividends of $2,270,500 in April on a capital of $49,100,000 and dividends of $2,236,250, a year ago on $49,100,000. The aggregate of miscellaneous dividends (including interest on Government and corporate bonds) payable in Boston in October is $2,068,081.

THE "Statesman's Year Book" for the current year presents some statistics showing the growth of the Russian Empire in Europe, including Poland and Finland. In 1772 its population was 14,000,000; in 1803, 38,000,000; in 1829, 50,000,000; in 1863, 65,000,000; and in 1872, 68,000,000. During the second half of the fifteenth century the empire contained only 18,000,000 square miles, but during the next century it increased to 237,000,000 miles. Peter the Great added 43,000,000, and Catherine II., 55,000,000 miles. At present the area is nearly 375,000,000 miles, the population being densest in Poland and most scattered in Siberia.

THE Postmaster General of England, in his annual report, quotes, among others, the following complimentary letter from an American gentleman, which goes far to prove the perfection to which the postal system has been brought in England: "Having recently arrived in England, and not knowing the present whereabouts of a sister, I addressed a letter to her late residence thus: 'Upper Norwood, or elsewhere.' I received a reply in ordinary course of mail, saying it had been delivered to her on the top of a stage-coach in Wales. I venture to say no other country can show the parallel, or would take the trouble at any price."

THE acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in view of the ambiguity of a portion of section 13 of the act of June 6, 1872, imposing special taxes on dealers in malt liquor, and in view of the supposed intention of Congress, has decided that wholesale and retail liquor dealers may continue to sell malt liquors under their special tax receipts as such without being assessed as malt liquor dealers, and that the collection of taxes assessed contrary to that construction shall be suspended until the question can be brought before Congress. Persons who sell only malt liquors are liable only to the special tax of $20 or $50, according as they are wholesale or retal dealers in malt liquors.

UNTIL the memorable 12th of July riots in New York, last year, between the Orangemen and the Catholics, the authorities of that city had found no occasion to use their legal power to interdict public parades, which as yet had produced no other evil effect than momentary interruption of business, which was borne good-humoredly by the community. The disorders of that day were too dreadful to allow repetition, and the Police Commissioners after allowing the Orangemen to parade this year in order to gratify the public disinclination to see them yield to the threats of their opponents, have summarily forbidden such displays in the future, and, in accordance with this decision, a Catholic society of New York was refused permission to parade on Sunday last.

A FAVORITE swindle in Paris at present is thus described: An elegantly dressed gentleman enters a segar store, buys several francs' worth of segars, for which he offers in payment a hundred franc bill, receives his change, and walks off. In a quarter of an hour arrives another individual, who buys some segars, and offers a twenty franc bill. But when the change was handed him he says: "I beg your pardon, it was a hundred franc bill I gave you." The merchant, of course, knows better; but the new comer gets very angry, calls in two policemen, tells them he can identify the hundred franc bill, (which is of course the same one his confederate recently left), does identify it by a mark on it, and the wretched merchant submits to the swindle, rather than be marched off to jail as a dishonest person.

PERSONAL.

MARSHAL BAZAINE is so much depressed in mind by reason of his approaching trial that it it feared he will attempt to commit suicide.

EDWIN BOOTH is preparing to produce King John in grand style this winter in New York, and hopes confidently for "a hundred-night run."

REV. MR. MUSE, pastor of a German Lutheran Church of Columbus, Ohio, has announced that he shall withhold communion from all members of secret societies.

A CORRESPONDENT of the London Times writes that Mrs. Theresa Black, Byron's "Maid of Athens," who is more than seventy years of age and in delicate health, is living in extreme want. Mrs. Black is the widow of the late English Vice-Consul at Missolonghi, Greece.

IN Arkansas a man was sentenced to be hanged, but all the carpenters in the neighborhood refused to build the scaffold. As the condemned man himself was a carpenter by trade, the sheriff tried to induce him to put up a scaffold, but he steadfastly declared that he'd be hanged if he did.

ON Saturday while ex-Governor Curtin was at Bellefonte, Pa., a soldier called on him, and extending his hand said:

"How are you, Governor? Do you recollect who presented our regiment with that flag?"

"Yes," replied the Governor, "I recollect it."

"Well, now, Governor, I want to tell you that Gen. Hartranft never allowed that flag to trail in the dust, and he is bound to be elected Governor of this State."

Curtin replied: "All right; I have nothing to say against General Hartranft."

REV. WESLEY RECTOR, a local preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church, residing in Fremont, Clark Co., died, last Thursday, under singular circumstances. He was lying low with typhoid fever. On the night of his death two ladies were watching with him. He arose, saying he wanted to go out. They remonstrated and retired from the room, not thinking he would go out, but, on their return in a few minutes, found him gone. He was found dead, lying near a pair of bars he had let down and passed through, near the house, having nothing on but his night-dress. He had wandered out in his delirium. He was to have been married shortly to a very estimable lady.

AT Pontrew-y-nydd, in Wales, Mr. Nathaniel Rosser got into an altercation with Mr. Morgan Evans concerning the correct orthography of Llyynnggffwwdvaur, a Welsh village, Evans maintaining that the fourteenth letter was "d," while Rosser stoutly averred that it was "v." They fought wordily for a long time, each unable to convince the other of error: at last Rosser became so greatly exasperated by his opponent's obstinacy and stupidity that he procured some hot lime and rubbed it into Mr. Evans' eyes, for which unfair mode of argumentation he now lies in jail, awaiting the issue of his applying lime to a man's eyes for spelling Llyynnggffwwddaur.

MRS. FAIR'S re-appearance in the court room was a welcome sight to the sensation lovers. At her last attendance she was dressed in deep black throughout—dress, hat, veil and gloves—in strange contrast to the marble whiteness of her face and the golden curls which floated down through her sombre habiliments. She looked sad and depressed, and kept her face behind the folds of her veil, and averted from the gaze of the curious crowd. Only once did she smile, and then it was but a mournful flicker that soon died away. Sitting near her was an older lady, also looking grief-laden and dejected. This was the mother of Mrs. Fair. She had come into Court before her daughter. When the latter entered she did not notice her. Neither spoke to the other, and both sat apart silent and alone.

DURING a class meeting held several years since by the Methodist brethren of a Southern village Brother Jones went among the colored portion of the congregation. Finding there an old man, notorious for his endeavor to serve God on the Sabbath and Satan the rest of the week, he said: "Well, Brother Dick, I am glad to see you here. Havn't stole any turkeys since I saw you last, Brother Dick?" "No, no, Brudder Jones, no turkeys." "Nor any chicken, Brother Dick?" "No, no, Brudder Jones, no chichens." "Thank the Lord, Brother Dick! That's doing well, my brother!" said Brother Jones, leaving Brother Dick, who immediately relieved his overburdened conscience by saying to a near neighbor, with an immense sigh of relief, "Ef he'd said ducks he'd a had me."

ONE of our benevolent old ladies is not satisfied with alone comfortably clothing the objects of her philanthropy, but perseveres in taking an interest in them after that. Wherever she meets them she is ready to make some pertinent and pleasant remark, such as, "Why, what a nice comfortable dress that of Miss Perkins' makes you," or "Mercy me! how good Uncle Daniel's breeches fit you," or something else of a like friendly and considerate nature, which is always keenly appreciated by the recipient, and sometimes by listeners. Saturday evening a chirk young Miss escorted by her gallant through the crowd of Main street caught the eye of the old lady, and her delighted voice sounded above the noises of the street as she cried: "Why, gracious goodness, Almira Ann Boardman! poor dead Miss Pinkney's basque sets almost as snug to you as if it had been made for you." And the old lady rubbed her nose very pleasantly, while Miss Boardman turned back with suppressed gratitude.—Danbury Press.

THE CHOICE OF THE NATION.

BY HORACE B. DURANT.

O, Grant is the choice of the nation,
Despite what the "Soreheads" may say;
We'll elect him, though every relation
He has, were in office to-day.
He's as safe as the weather cock, Greeley—
That spiritual skeptic, we think,
Though he may not have told us so freely,
What he knows about farming—in ink.

Cincinnati has held its Convention—
'Twas truly a funny affair,
That would puzzle e'en Satan to mention—
Both "Ku-Klux" and "Sorehead" were there.
Each was anxious to swallow the other,
With a great deal of hypocrite cant;
So the Ass swore the Serpent his brother,
And pledged—"any thing to beat Grant."

Charles Sumner, who scoffs at the Bible,
Because 'twas not made by himself,
Has uttered his puerile libel,
And finally gone to his shelf;
His rhetoric, his bombast, and nonsense,
Scarce any will listen or read;
With his pompous conceits he has gone hence,
To Tammany, Greeley and Tweed.

'Tis at most a contemptible faction—
But a zealous and hungering crew
That now leads the old foe into action,
And pilots Democracy through;
'Tis a few that are whining for power,
Which Grant has refused to bestow;
That go begging it now, as they cower
At the feet of their treacherous foe.

Say, Soldiers, who fought the hard battle,
For the triumph of freedom and right,
Who have listened to the iron hail rattle,
In the thunder of many a fight;
Say, would ye clasp hands with that number,
Who speak lightly of all ye have done?
For yourselves, and your comrades who slumber,
Hold fast to the prize ye have won.

Not for men, but for principles rally—
'Tis a cause too momentous to yield;
Let the foe and his Liberal ally,
Be driven in rout from the field;
For Grant is the choice of the nation,
Despite what the "Soreheads" may say;
We'll elect him, though every relation
He has, were in office to-day.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH SILVER WEDDING.

A Peculiar Celebration—A Brilliant Programme—The Past and the Present of Plymouth and its Pastor.

[From the New York Herald of Monday.]

The custom of celebrating the silver weddings of men and women is common enough not to require any special notice, but the commemoration of the wedding of a minister to his church is an event rarely if ever heard of. Such a commemoration is, however, to take place in Plymouth church, Brooklyn, during the second week of October, and due preparations are being made to insure a brilliant beginning, continuance and ending to it. Twenty-five years ago, that is to say in October, 1847, Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, then a rough country diamond, came from the West to take charge of the little church then organized by twenty-one members in Brooklyn. He brought nothing with him—as he himself declared on an anniversary occasion a few years ago—but his horse and bridle and saddle-bags. But he had beneath his outward seeming an intense love for truth and justice and an equally intense hatred of injustice, falsehood and oppression. The slave power was then spreading itself, and he shot at it every time it showed its head, and he never once missed his mark. He had too much faith in God and in revealed religion and too much native common sense to believe that God could smile upon or approve such a system of iniquity as American slavery. And hence he denounced it unsparingly, and he lived to see its bloody downfall and to

PREACH ITS FUNERAL SERMON

at the raising of the old flag over Sumter at the close of the war.

But naturally enough Mr. Beecher had among his own church people and congregation some who argued the divinity of the slave abomination from its steady expansion and who feared that some misfortune would overtake the church or the minister that should utter a word of protest or denunciation against it. Hence they tried to persuade Mr. Beecher to put up his sword within its sheath or to strike in some other direction. But he quickly settled the question by telling them that unless he could preach the truth of the Lord as he understood it he was ready to take his saddlebags, mount his horse, and ride straight away to the backwoods from whence he came. Nature and grace had combined to give him independence enough to refuse any compromise with sin. He held his ground and triumphed, and no heavier cannon was fired during the war on either side than was fired by Mr. Beecher from Plymouth pulpit. The South heard the reverberations, and often felt the shock, and the Hotspurs tried to spike the gun and pick off the gunner. But both still exist and in a few days a fitting will be given to the church and to the public. In July last a committee was appointed to make suitable arrangements for this occasion. This committee has announced its programme, which comprises a morning prayer meeting from eight to nine o'clock on each of the days appointed for the commemorative exercises, beginning on Tuesday, October 8, to be conducted by Mr. Beecher. In the afternoon of that day there is to be a gathering of the Sunday School children connected with Plymouth church, the Bethel and Navy Yard Missions, numbering altogether about 2,100 in Plymouth church. In the evening of October 8 there will be a reunion of all the officers, teachers, &c., who are now or have ever been connected with these Sunday schools. On Wednesday evening, October 9, there will be a reunion of present and former members, and on Thursday evening, October 10th, a historical meeting will be held, at which addresses will be delivered by Mr. Beecher, Rev. Dr. R. S. Storrs, Dr. Buddington and others, and on Friday a final prayer and conference meeting will be held, after which the Lord's Supper will be administered, and suitable words of parting spoken. To accommodate persons residing at a distance.

MEMORIAL OF THOSE EARLY TIMES

A PLAIN LUNCH WILL BE PROVIDED

in the church every day. The church and Sunday school rooms will be garlanded and decorated with flowers, and the choicest music will be rendered. The admission to all those services will be by tickets, which are given only to members or ex-members, as above, and to pastors and duly accredited delegates from other Congregational churches in Brooklyn and New York, who are invited to participate. The membership of Plymouth church is 3,300—so that were the committee inclined to open their doors promiscuously to the public they could only do so by driving members away; and this will hardly be expected; but, as far as possible, every one entitled by the above invitations will be accommodated at this peculiar silver wedding celebration.

A NEW CURE.

The following case of Mr. Kurtz, Postmaster at Athens, Ohio, is one of considerable importance, inasmuch as Mr. K. had undergone various modes of treatment with different persons for the past few years without any material relief. When he came to me he was in a very reduced state and had about given up all hopes of being cured.

He is a well-known gentleman and has numerous relatives in this city, and is the son of Mr. George A. Kurtz, of Allegheny city.

DR. KEYSER: I am glad to be able to report to you, that your medicines are exercising a salutary influence on my system. Their restorative effects are so manifest that I can now perform considerable manual labor, not only without feeling exhausted as hitherto, but with, I think, positively beneficial results. I am also steadily increasing in flesh, have gained about nine pounds since I commenced treatment with you.

W. W. KURTZ.

DAILY GAZETTE.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, October 2, 1872.

The trouble which has been annoying the banking institutions during the past fortnight in regard to the call for statements has been at last relieved. From confidential information received from a special correspondent, the fact may be announced that the statements will be, if not already done, called for up to the close of business on Saturday, September 28th. The grip which has been tightening upon money matters for some time past must now, if the want of calling for statements be the correct or main cause for it, as has been alleged by many prominent financial men, relax, and the community may look for some little change at least for the better in the way of discounts for some time to come. That the people of Pittsburgh are really sound is a fact that needs no confirmation in the way of any evidence save that already produced during the past few days, which has witnessed as close a money market as has been seen since the close of the war. Payments were never met so promptly, and protests, accordingly to the amount of business, so few as at the present time. And now, if the information conveyed to the reader above be correct, what is the duty of the national banks in the premises? Ought they not to come forward at once with a liberal hand, let out all the funds that they can with propriety spare, and thus remedy any damage that the stringency of the past week has caused, prevent any trouble in the immediate future, and any cessation in the activity of the fall trade, which is now here, or promises to come.

The condition of the money markets in other cities is improving, and money appears to become plentier.

NEW YORK, October 2, 1872.

Money active and stringent at from 1-32 and interest to 3-16 per cent. The extra purchase of bonds by the Government eased rates temporarily, but the demand continued to the close. Sterling dull. Gold opened at 114¾, but on the announcement of the large purchase of bonds by the Treasury the price fell to 113¾, and afterward rallied to the opening price. The corner in cash gold was broken, the loan rate falling to flat after having been forced up to ⅛ for borrowing. Clearances $91,000,000. Treasury disbursements $69,000. Governments buoyant and ⅛@1⅜ higher. Secretary Boutwell accepted three millions, or all offered except $168,000, at 111 49-100@113 25-100, payment to be made in legal tenders. In the stock market Pacific Mail and Western Union absorbed attention, with enormous transactions in each. The former is subject to clique movements, while the latter is strong and higher on rumors of the forthcoming 4 per cent. dividend. Hartford & Erie was active, rising 1 per cent. on a rumor that the Erie and New York Central were fighting for its control. The general market was dull and the whole market weak, with some pressure to sell, especially Vanderbilt shares. The earnings of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railway for September were $118,010. Since the admission to the Stock Exchange of this company's first mortgage 7 per cent. gold bonds the dealings in them have been active.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CENTRAL STOCK YARD, EAST LIBERTY, WEDNESDAY, October 2, 1872.

CATTLE.

The arrivals thus far have been large, which is evident from the fact that the pens at noon to-day were all full; of course, a large proportion of the cattle are billed through, but the supply on sale is full and largely in excess of the demand; there is perhaps an average attendance of buyers, but they are all "bearish," especially those who buy for Philadelphia and New York, and, therefore, the prospects for sellers, particularly those who have common, half fatted stock, are not very encouraging. The quality, as a rule, is again common, unusually so, the great bulk of the offerings consisting of old cows, rough stags, and thinnish steers, and while prices are lower for all grades, the depreciation in the latter, as might be expected, was greater than in the better grades; the eastern market continue hard, being overstocked, and until there is an improvement there we need expect none here, as we are dependent mainly on eastern buyers for trade. There were quite a number of dealers in attendance from Lancaster and other adjoining counties in the eastern part of the State, and but for them, common cattle would have been still worse, as there were but very few other buyers for that grade of cattle to be found. However, the indications at this writing are that low grade stock cannot be disposed of without a loss to the western shipper, and we do not expect to see any decided change for the better until producers and others see the importance of holding back their half fatted and green stock until it gets into better condition for beef.

Prime extra shipping steers, 1,300@1,400 lbs, may be quoted at 6,50@7 cts; we are cognizant of several lot of prime Southern Ohio steers having changed hands at $6,75@6,80; good 1,100@1,200 average, $5,75@6,25. Rough stock, such as stags and old cows, 3@4 cts; bulls, 2¾@3 cts. As will be seen by reference to the report of sales, the operations thus far have been very limited and confined mainly to the lower grades. Following is a full report of the sales up to noon to-day.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The arrivals thus far have been fair and as a rule common in point of quality; hence, the better grades are selling readily and at slightly improved prices, while the lower grades are dragging though as compared with last week, without quotable change in prices. We can report sales of several bunches of prime (fine wool) sheep weighing from 90 to 95 lbs. at 5¾@6 cts. and some few lots of "picked" brought a fraction more. Coarse wool sheep may be quoted at ¼ to ½c below above quotations, according to quality and condition, Lambs are in better demand and higher ranging from 5 to 7 cts.

HOGS.

The arrivals thus far have been fair and the market is fairly active though prices, especially for the best grades are a shade lower than on Saturday and Monday, however, all the different grades seem to be picked up on arrival; hence there is no accumulation, and the indications are that prices will not go any lower during the balance of the week, unless there should be increased arrivals, which is not probable. Prime to extra Philadelphia hogs may be quoted at $5,60@5,65; medium to good, $5,40@5,50. Yorkers have undergone little or no change for some time past, ranging from $4,60@4,90 according to quality.

In a few days more the packing season will open up in the west and this leads some well informed operators to predict that prices, especially for good corn fed hogs, will go no lower, during the next sixty days.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede slowly at this point, with 19½ inches in the channel last evening. Weather cloudy and cool, with some rain in the afternoon and indications in the evening favorable for more during the night.

The L. C. McCormick, has we understand, been placed in the Steubenville and Wheeling packet trade.

—We take the following from the St. Louis Democrat: Ha! ha! John Benson is making old Capt. Cannon sweat. The New Orleans National Republican says: "To 'oblige Benson,' the planters residing between Buckbridge and this city gave his fine packet, the Governor Allen, 1,121 bales cotton, 2,112 sacks cotton seed, 147 sacks seed cotton, a large lot of sundries and her fine cabin filled to overflowing with passengers. 3,140 bales cotton were received yesterday and Sunday by river steamers." The same paper has this farfetched rumor "Rumor says that Capt. Goddin has chartered the Grand Tower, one of the fastest of the up-river packets, to run during the cotton season as a semi-weekly packet between this city and Natchez. Capt. Pratt, is is reported, is again to enter the Vicksburg trade. He is reported by our exchanges as being at present in negotiation for a packet." And to all this that the St. Louis White Collar boats offer to carry cotton in large or small lots from Vicksburg and points below for fifty cents per bale. Hot times down there, you bet.

—The Marine Railway at Cincinnati closed a contract with Capt. Smith for the hull of his new South American steamer. The hull will be 120 feet long, with 22 feet beam. Dumont will build her machinery. She will have three double flued boilers, 26 feet long and 38 inches in diameter. Her engines will 17 in. cylinders, 6 feet stroke. The boat will be a sternwheeler, and is intended for the upper end of Magdalena River—that portion hitherto regarded as unnavigable. The whole boat—hull (not put together) engines, boilers, chimney, cabin, &c.—will be packed in different parcels, and shipped to South America as freight, and be put together after arrival at destination.

—There is talk at Madison of building a boat similar to the Henry Probasco, only two feet more beam, and especially adapted for carrying light freight, while the cabin will be finely finished and furnished, but not larger than necessary to fill the demands of the trade for which she is intended, viz: the Cincinnati & St. Louis Express Line.

—The engines of the Clifton, which steamer was burnt at the Cincinnati wharf several years ago, will be placed in Capt. Coo, Vandergrift's iron hull towboat, now being built by Alex. Swift & Co. They have 21 inch cylinders, 7 feet stroke.

—Thomas Calhoun, Willis Stockdale, John N. Bofinger, and D. R. Powell, of St. Louis, owners of the steamer Glencoe, have sold their entire interests to the Glencoe Transportation Company, for $90,000.

—All the obstructions under the 400 feet span of the Newport bridge have been removed; the crane boat is gone, and the signals have been removed.

—Capt. George Pegram and John Bofinger are negotiating for the purchase of the Umpire, at $6,000, to be used in discharging their upper Red River contract.

—The steamer Katie, just out for the season, made the trip from the head of Canal street, New Orleans, to Carrollton in thirty minutes and a half Wednesday evening.

—The Louisville Commercial gravely states that "the steamer Belfast went from Cairo to St. Louis, on her last trip, on one wheel." That's astonishing for a sternwheel steamboat.

—There is no boat now running on the Upper Tennessee, the Mary Kate having laid up at Chattanooga. A rise is wanted.

HOME NEWS.

Painful Accident.

Yesterday afternoon Jacob Westman, an employee at the Allegheny Water Works, was working around the engine when he put his right foot on a slide. In a moment a rod came down, and made a clean cut, severing all the toes of his foot. He was attended by Dr. J. W. Kirker and was subsequently removed to his home in the Second ward.

Stolen Horses Recovered.

On the 18th inst., a couple of valuable horses were stolen from the stable on the premises of Mr. George Ewalt, of Richland township. The Allegheny police were notified of the affair and kept a lookout. Yesterday Chief Clark found the horses near Millvale in a stable, but failed to secure the thief. The animals were returned to their owner.

The loss will be about $250. The fire originated from a furnace.

As the Relief Engine was being driven up Dinwiddie street the horses fell over an embankment about twelve feet high and one of them was severely injured. The engine did not go over the embankment.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

A Man Run Over—His Arm Torn Off—Dies in a Few Hours.

Yesterday afternoon Coroner West was called on to hold an inquest on the body of John Montgomery, a resident of Millvale, who was found laying on the West Penn Railroad track about one o'clock yesterday, in a dying condition. Montgomery had been participating in the procession in Allegheny, and having missed the train, started with a companion to walk home. The companion stopped in a saloon to drink, and the deceased started along the track alone. About an hour afterward the man who remained, on arriving between Hare and Willow station, Eighth ward, was surprised at hearing some one call his name several times. He found the poor fellow, Montgomery, lying near the track in a pool of blood. Immediately summoning assistance, the unfortunate man was conveyed to Millvale, but he died shortly afterward. His right arm was torn from the body, merely hanging by a shred of the skin, and he had several other wounds on the head and body. The coroner's jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts. The deceased was about twenty-eight years of age and leaves a wife and one child.

PERSONAL.

Hon. R. W. Mackey is in the city.

Mr. Ira B. McVay, the well known banker, has just returned from an extensive California trip. He and his wife have been absent on the tour for several weeks.

Charles F. McKenna, Esq., a promising and rising young member of the legal fraternity of this city, was married to an accomplished young lady of Baltimore, on Tuesday last. Our heartiest wishes go out for the welfare and happiness of our young friend and his bride.

To Mr. James E. Burns, the popular and enterprising druggist, corner of Sixth street and Penn Avenue, the thanks of the Pittsburgh Grant and Hartranft clubs are due. He saluted them on their return from the Allegheny demonstration on Tuesday evening with a brilliant display of vari-colored lights and in return was saluted and appropriately serenaded by all the delegations. Mr. Burns' public spirit is worthy emulation. He does by deeds what others promise to do by words.

BREVITIES

....Fifteen foreigners were naturalized in the United States Court yesterday morning.

....Over one thousand four hundred cases were disposed of by Mayor Blackmore last month.

....The Consolidated Gas Company are laying pipe on Water street, prior to the completion of the locust block pavement there.

....Yesterday Chief Clark of Allegheny recovered a silver watch which had been stolen from Mr. Smith on Sheffield street several days ago.

....Messrs. Park Bros. & Co., Black Diamond Steel Works, received the premiums at the Cincinnati Exposition for the best steel plate for boilers and best cast steel.

....The locust block pavement has been put down on Stockton avenue, Allegheny, west of Federal street. This thoroughfare is now one of the best for driving over in the city.

....The Seventh Ward (Pittsburgh) Grant and Wilson Marching Corps turned out over one hundred voters in the grand torchlight procession in Allegheny, on Tuesday evening, all handsomely uniformed, carrying a beautiful silk flag, and presenting a very fine appearance. The members are exerting themselves and propose doing even better on Saturday night at the closing up of the campaign.

....Alderman Logan had before him yesterday Robert Armstrong, charged on oath of John C. Kane, with cruelty to animals, in beating and abusing his horse in a horrible manner. Armstrong was held to bail in the sum of three hundred dollars for court. Also before the same magistrate, James M'Cord, charged with false pretense, on information of Jennie Thompson. It appears that Jennie gave Thompson five dollars, wherewith to rent her a room, and instead of doing so, appropriated the money to his own use. Held to bail for court.

....The Liberal-Democratic demonstration last night in honor of Hassaurek, the "model reformer" from Cincinnati, was a brilliant success—in so far as evidencing the utter want of sympathy felt for the Liberal-Democratic movement by the Germans hereabouts. There were about two hundred torches in line and the enthusiasm of the people residing on Carson street, was manifested by the slim decoration of three houses on the street, from one end to the other. A couple of hundred men listened to the utterances of the speaker, who is considered next to Schurz among the Liberal-Democrats. Yes, it was a brilliant success.

A YOUTHFUL TRAVELER.

Romantic History of a Twelve-year Old Boy.

Yesterday morning about ten o'clock, a boy about ten years of age came to the Mayor's office and stated that he was looking for his father who keeps a saloon in this city. He says that his father, whose name is William Albright, formerly lived here, and kept a restaurant, but just where, the boy don't know. About seven years ago the father sold out here and removed with his family to Washington, D. C. He had been there, keeping a restaurant, about two years, when his wife died. Shortly afterwards he sold out and left the city for Pittsburgh, leaving Charley and an elder brother in Washington. Charley said his father would'nt say good-bye to him on leaving, but bade farewell to his brother. In a few days the brother left to come here to join his father, and Charley was left in Washington alone.

He was placed by the authorities there, in an orphan asylum, where he remained two years. Then he was sent to live with a man on a farm fourteen miles beyond Alexandria. He staid with him three years. Recently the boy became very anxious to see his father, and the gentleman with whom he was living, was willing to let him go, and gave him money to go to Washington. Charles went to that city, thinking that his father might have returned there, or that he might at all events get on the track of him.

He found an old friend of his father's, who told him that last winter he received a letter from Mr. Albright inquiring for Charley, and requesting to have him sent to him. The father was at that time keeping a saloon here, but where the man did not know. About a month after the letter was received, the elder brother visited Washington in search of Charley. The neighbor, however, could give no account of the boy, not knowing where he had gone on leaving the asylum.

The plucky boy determined to walk to Pittsburgh and if possible find his father. He managed to get a ride over a portion of the distance to Baltimore and then through the assistance of the Mayor succeeded in getting a pass to this city. Mayor Blackmore is making inquiries for the lad's father, who is supposed to keep a saloon in the neighborhood of East Liberty.

BUENA VISTA.

Enthusiastic Republican Meeting.

A large and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held at Buena Vista in the Fourth Precinct of Elizabeth township, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 1, 1872. Capt. C. Greenawalt was elected President, Wm. Newland, John Copeland, and Dr. C. Rudolph Vice Presidents, and N. H. Boyd and S. H. Watson, Secretaries. The meeting was ably addressed by H. H. McCormick and John S. Robb, Esqs. The miners of that district will vote solid for Grant and Wilson and Hartranft.

Amusements.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—It is hardly safe to trust ourself to speak a word of praise in behalf of Mr. C. W. Couldock, who is now fulfilling an engagement at the Pittsburgh Opera House, for our admiration of the man as an actor and histrionic artist of the highest order might lead us to indulge in extravagant laudations. We cannot refrain from saying, however, that he above all others who grace the American theatrical board, fills the idea of the true actor and faithful interpreter of the emotional feelings of the common human heart. There can be and is no comparison between the acting of Booth, of Forrest, of Jefferson or Adams, and that of Couldock. He monopolizes a school himself and in it is an accomplished master, unequaled, unexcelled. With not the slightest attempt at display, with no outside exertion from the text of his play, he goes through his drama, and by the most careful portraiture of character wins the applause and admiration of his audience. Mr. Couldock in the particular role which he with much ability assumes and sustains, that generally of the old man, the venerable father or husband, we think is without a peer in this country. The person to whom he cannot bring tears may as well close their hearts to all things earthly, for they must be awfully hardened already.

Last evening, on the occasion of his magnificent rendition of "Luke Fielding," there was large attendance, and the beautiful play was most admirably rendered. The support of the excellent stock company which now graces the Opera House was superbly good, and the torching drama proceeded from the rise to the fall of the curtain in an evenness and beauty of detail never before witnessed in this city.

To night Mr. Couldock will appear in two of his very best characters—as Phil. Stapleton, in the great play of "Old Phils' Birthday," and as Milky White. Those of our readers who desire to spend an evening of unalloyed pleasure, should not fail to put in an appearance.

THE AMERICAN THEATRE.—There was a large audience present at this most popular place of entertainment last night. The bill was a most excellent one. To-night a grand "feast of music and flow of soul" is to be offered. If you want to put in a pleasant evening, do not fail to patronize the American Theatre, formerly the old Fifth Avenue Opera House.

Prof. Wm. Howard Day.

This distinguished orator and scholar, who is a graduate of Oberlin College, Ohio, will deliver an address in the Allegheny Diamond, this evening at 7 o'clock. His speech will be principally devoted to a review of the eminent services of Gens. Hartranft, Allen and the Hon. Ulysses Mercur. Prof. Day is editor of "Our National Progress." It is the official organ of the State Union League and other colored associations whose ramifications extend through the State of Pennsylvania. His paper has wielded a potent influence in behalf of Grant, Wilson and Hartranft and his able editorials have been the means of enlightening a large class of our fellow citizens as to their rights and the allegiance they owe to the Regular Republican Party.

Prof. Day is a magnetic man. His fine orotund voice, uttering words of the most elegant import; his thrilling and impassioned eloquence, electrifies his hearers. His great speech, delivered in the Diamond on the evening of the Soldiers and Sailor's National Convention, two week's ago—held the large political assemblage spell bound. We advise all who can, to go and hear this great colored orator, who is a noble representative of his race. He will be escorted from the Central Hotel this evening to the Allegheny Diamond by the several clubs. All the colored Republican clubs have been invited, and will join in the ovation in honor of Wm. Howard Day. S. A. N.

Mme. S. A. Roller, Milliner, Cloak and Dress Maker, No. 122 East Ohio Street, Allegheny City, Pa.

The premonitory symptoms of the fall trade were never more auspicious than now. This is especially true in millinery and fancy goods. The ladies are all on the alert for the latest styles, and our leading stores are already active, and the stocks presented are in the main surpassingly rich. Mme. Roller, always a pioneer in introducing the choicest new things of the season, will have her first grand opening on Thursday, October 10th, to which she will be pleased to welcome her numerous patrons. Having purchased a full and complete new stock of goods, she will be able to offer to them probably the finest assortment of new fall styles in bonnets, hats, ribbons, sashes, ties, feathers, flowers and fancy goods to be found in the city. The cloak and dress making department is under the direct supervision of Mme. Roller, who with her obliging and expert assistants, is prepared at short notice to turn out any thing in the cloak and dress line, and guarantees satisfaction to the most fastidious. 6

Kitchen & Beggs, Dealers in Millinery, Straw Goods, Trimmings and Notions, No. 122 Federal Street, Allegheny.

The above firm is now receiving daily all the latest novelties in Bonnets, Hats, Ribbons, Flowers, Embroideries, Laces, Ladies' Furnishing Goods, &c., to which they would respectfully call the attention of their numerous customers. They desire to return thanks for the liberal patronage they have received from the ladies of the city and vicinity and will in the future, as in the past, carry such a stock and sell at such prices as will entitle them to an increase of patronage. They have purchased for the fall trade a large stock of millinery and fancy goods of the finest quality, and will endeavor to retain the name so justly won of selling good goods at low prices. Ladies desiring anything in their line will do well to give them a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Malaga Grapes, Figs, and other fruits; also Ice Cream of different flavors, Jelly, at Hubley's.

MEETING IN ALLEGHENY.

A Large Demonstration—Address of Hon. R. Stockett Mathews.

The weather last evening was in no way favorable to an out door meeting, but notwithstanding its inclemency, a large company assembled in front of the stand in the First ward, Diamond square Allegheny, to hear the political issues of the day discussed. The speaker of the evening Hon. R. Stockett Mathews, of Baltimore, was escorted to the stand by the Fourth Ward Club, and the meeting was organized about eight o'clock by the election of the following officers:

President—Hon. S. A. Purviance.

Vice Presidents—James Park, Jr., Geo. D. Ware, B. F. Jones, John Megraw, D. Macferron, Hon. A. P. Callow, John W. Chalfant, R. Hager, Harry Aigeo, David Miller, G. M. Irwin, James McBrier, Alfred Slack.

Mr. Purviance upon assuming the position made a few pertinent remarks, after which the Hon. Mr. Mathews was introduced, and made a lengthy and stirring address. In the course of his remarks he reviewed the records of the two parties now before the people—contending that Liberal, Republican-Democracy was only the old rebel Democracy in a new guise—a political whited sepulchre,—and arguing that the real contest, the underlying issues at stake were the same as those which had been first fought for by Republicans at the ballot box, and afterward sustained on the field of battle, and now reaffirmed. His address was a very happy and affective effort, and elicited great enthusiasm.

At its close the meeting adjourned.

During the progress of the meeting an amusing incident occurred which emphatically brought down the house. The speaker, in one of his thrilling appeals, asked if there was a Democrat in the audience? No answer. The query was repeated, and in reply some one said, "Yes, there's one out there," meaning beyond the crowd. "Is there," said the speaker, elevating his voice, "a Democrat out there?" "No, not now," was the response, "he was here but he's been taken to the lock-up."

It is perhaps unnecessary to remark that everybody smiled at that—smiled audibly for several minutes.

DRY GOODS.

Fresh Fall and Winter Stock at M. Mentzer & Son's, No. 94 Market Street.

Among the old, prominent and prosperous business houses of the city, not one is more conspicuous than that of Messrs. Mentzer & Son, No. 94 Market street. It has grown into importance from an humble beginning through the force of good management, fair dealing and reasonable prices, and now occupies no second place among the retail dry goods establishments of the city. Mr. Mentzer, its founder, recently associated with his son in the conduct of his business, and the accession has been prolific of the happiest results, the trade of the house having largely increased, so much so, that it is with difficulty that the large share of patronage directed towards it is accommodated, and taxes the fullest energies of the firm. It has long been an established household fact that the very best goods and very best of bargains can at all times be procured at Mentzers' and economical purchasers invariably take full advantages of the truth, and hence the large business transacted at the house. Mr. Mentzer, Sr., attends to the buying, and having long experience in the trade, knows exactly what best suits the Pittsburgh market, and accordingly makes most judicious selections, and such as cannot fail to afford unlimited choice and satisfaction to all customers. The firm have just laid in a splendid stock of fall and winter goods, to which we especially direct the attention of our lady friends, feeling assured that they will be delighted with an inspection of the beautiful new styles of fabrics introduced this season. The assortment is large and varied, and embraces all lines of goods usually kept in first class dry goods houses, and such great bargains are offered that it is a matter of simple economy to deal there. The most courteous and obliging clerks are always in attendance, and visitors are warmly welcomed whether desiring to make purchases or to look at the goods. We can confidently, from long acquaintance with the Messrs. Mentzer, commend them to our readers as fair dealing, honorable gentlemen, in every way worthy of patronage.

Triumphant for Twenty Years.

More than twenty years ago the MUSTANG LINIMENT made its debut in the West. Its cures of the various external diseases of horses and cattle, astonished the planters and farmers of the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, and a demand for it sprung up which necessitated its manufacture on an extensive scale. Soon the discovery was made that it was a grand specific for rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, earache, toothache, and other external ailments of mankind. Then it was tried as a healing, pain killing application, in cases of outward injury, such as cuts, bruises, burns, spasms, &c., and was found equally serviceable. The fame of the new remedy for some of the most painful ills that afflict mankind and the lower animals, spread rapidly, and MUSTANG LINIMENT soon took rank in every State and Territory of the Union as a STANDARD CURE. THE OLD FOUNDRY.

The Iron Building Interest of Pittsburgh.

There are many establishments in our city that stand as connecting links between the dim distant past and the prosperous present, but none that have carried through a long term of years a higher or more reliable reputation than the old Monongahela Foundry, corner of Grant and Water streets. It was established as far back as 1828 and its history has been a component part of that of the whole city; for it steadily marched on improving and enlarging as the town enlarged and grew more important as a manufacturing point. As "Anderson's Foundry" the old establishment has for many long years stood as one of the leading and most conspicuous landmarks in the city and even yet is referred to with much honest veneration by the older portion of our people whose memories of youth are so intimately blended with it. We think we are safe in asserting that to the old Monongahela Foundry, more than to any other rival one in the United States, or indeed, it would be no great exaggeration to say in the world, is due the large share of the credit of having iron as a building material, especially for fronts of buildings, introduced so liberally into architecture. It was certainly the pioneer in this line of business in Pittsburgh. When even learned builders and close calculating architects were very bitter in their opposition to its adoption in the edifices they constructed, and who combatted with all their mights the idea that it would prove not only more beautiful and ornamental than brick or stone, but likewise more durable. The proprietors of the old foundry, with pertinacity all the more creditable when viewed through the revolution of late made in favor of iron for building purposes, stuck to the idea that it was destined to outlive the popular prejudice and become almost universally used. The Anderson family, John, the father, who has passed into the world beyond, and who ever held the love and respect of all his fellow citizens, and Wm. J. Anderson, at present engaged largely in another line of manufacturing business, deserve full recognition for the work done in introducing iron as a most prominent specialty in modern architecture. We need not cite to our Pittsburgh readers where stand the more prominent monuments to the skill and taste of the Monongahela foundry. They are everywhere around us and are pointed to with much genuine pride, when we set about to show strangers the architectural beauties of our home, of smoke and industry. For fully two decades of years the elaborately ornamented and massive "Bank block" on Fifth avenue, has challenged admiration, and been universally acknowledged to be as fine an iron building as can be found in the world. Although, perhaps, among the very first of iron fronted buildings erected in the United States, yet it is as fresh, stout and handsome as the day it was left by the builders and in all probability it will stand to glorify the avenue it graces for ages and ages to come. Then there are other proud buildings to attest the mechanical ability of those at the head of the Monongahela Foundry. There are no prettier, more solid and substantial buildings than the Fahnestock and Greggs blocks, the City and Mellon's banks, and scores of others too tedious to mention, which afford us good ground for calling Pittsburgh the "Iron City" from her buildings as well as from the specialty of the manufacture of iron. While all of this outside ornamental front work is to be seen plainly, so much cannot be said of the heavy and substantial work done by the firm in the interior of many of our stout buildings. The massive iron work of City Hall, of St. Peter's Church, Allegheny, and of many other places we might mention was made and fitted at the Monongahela Foundry, and will stand forever as the best advertisement of the ability and capacity of the firm for doing such work. Orders for iron work come in from all sections of the country, and contracts are made for any quantity of public and private buildings throughout our own and adjoining States, as the foundry has acquired a national reputation for the superiority of its work. It is the only establishment hereabout that makes architectural iron work a principal specialty, and we are heartily glad to record its great success and prosperity, as there is no Pittsburgher who does not take pride in the old foundry.

Recently Mr. Henry A. Freyvogel succeeded the firm of Wm. J. Anderson & Co., in the proprietorship of the foundry, in which we might add he was almost entirely raised. Some twenty years ago, when quite a young man, he was inducted into the business as manager, and through his personal exertions, he built up the trade and made hosts of friends and patrons, and now finds himself at the head, as sole proprietor, of one of our most venerable and time-honored manufacturing establishments. Educated in the workshop and charged with the responsibility of seeing to and carrying out the details of the business, he is thoroughly acquainted with his line of trade and with eminent good taste may be called its master. He has recently made very extensive improvements on the foundry, which covers over an acre of ground in the heart of the city, and is now prepared better than ever to fill the orders directed toward the old establishment. He makes a specialty of machinery and bridge castings, although, making all descriptions of light and heavy cast iron work. None but good, practical and experienced mechanics, are found among his large force of employees, and consequently the very best quality of workmanship in every job undertaken by the firm, may confidently be expected. In concluding our brief remarks concerning the time honored old Monongahela foundry, we take pleasure in commending its present proprietor to the patronage of our friends, knowing him to be a most worthy successor to those hitherto who had him associated with them in the conduct of their business.

ROB ROY ON THE ALLEGHENY.

An Old-Fashioned Trip—Voyaging in a Canoe—A Modern "Lady of the Lake"—A Piquant Description.

A lady who evidently wields the pen of a ready writer, contributes to Harper's for October, this fresh and piquant bit of description of localities somewhat familiar to our readers, that finds an appreciative place in the choice corner of the Magazine, the "Easy chair:"

WEST OF PITTSBURGH, July 29, 1872.

DEAR EASY CHAIR.—We have been reading about the new fancy for canoes and solitary excursions that has taken possession of a number of the superior sex in New York and elsewhere, and have been wondering why they did not try canoeing long ago, and why they need such expensive boats. Mr. M'Gregor's account of his voyages in Europe is very interesting, and the Dolly Varden canoe had a very 'nice time;' but I do think that what we people here know about canoeing is quite as interesting and more funny.

"Two years ago my brother went to New York by the Erie Railroad to a place near the source of the Allegheny river, and having bought a canoe from some of the 'Corn-planter Indians,' he made the trip to the mouth of the river, and twenty miles down the Ohio. He did have a most charming time; met with all sorts of comical adventures, and passed through beautiful scenery. His canoe was only an Indian 'dug-out,' and all the 'traps' he had were his valise, gun, and fishing-tackle; but his account of it is—at least it seems so—as good as other people's.

"All the canoes we have read about cost from one to two hundred dollars, and the owners thereof are supposed to take long trips—say from New York up the Hudson via. Lake Champlain to the St. Lawrence. Now it seems to me that there are young men who like to canoe (if there is no such verb I make it now), and have not a hundred dollars to spare, nor can be long away from business. For that class would it not be interesting to know that they can buy a canoe for five dollars, paddle included, and make the trip down the river in little over a week? F—— said it cost him a about twenty-five dollars to come from New York here, including the canoe, of course. And people have no idea what lovely mountain views there are on that trip, nor what hungry bass can be caught by trolling, nor what nice farm houses are hospitably opened to cook the trout and dry the boatman; for he tips out sometimes.

"I have a special interest in the canoe, for F—— was going to take me with him, but I could not go. But I can paddle it, I must tell you that; for I know many men who have tried to paddle it, and straightway tipped themselves out—then voted it a 'moist, unpleasant' affair. Scribner's for August has an article on the canoe, which says that M'Gregor's Rob Roy was 'excessively crank.' Crank! Why, that's just the fun of it! Any one can paddle a keel-boat. And the club canoe has a double paddle, so that the boatman can change it from one side of the boat to the other. Any one can do that! But when one can paddle a 'dug-out,' with the paddle on one side alone, and keep the boat straight as an arrow, and at racing speed, why, then, he deserves the name of a voyageur—I was going to say a canoeist; but I will not.

"These last two summers, as soon as I came here from New York, I have gone and looked at the canoe, and sailed with F—— in it, and longed to get in myself; but this summer I really did get into it alone and paddled it. I wasn't afraid of drowning, for I can swim, but I was afraid of F——'s laughing at me. He sat watching me from the bank for that purpose. Well, I made it go down stream beautifully, while F—— looked half admiring, half skeptical. Then it occurred to me to turn back. F—— began to get interested, and gave half a dozen directions. But it did not occur to that canoe to turn back. The more I 'angled' the paddle and sculled, the worse it was. Round and round the thing went—for I would not put the paddle in on the opposite side—while F——, a champion of the canoe, kept laughing at me. Oh dear! I did feel so feminine and inferior as I waltzed up to the landing. And when I did get there I had—oh, humiliating fact!—to paddle on both sides till F—— could reach the chain, when he hauled me in like a trout on a trolling-hook.

"I can paddle it all right now; but, you see, my first attempt gave me a great respect for the 'dug-out;' and I do think there is as much enjoyment to be found in a five-dollar canoe as in a two-hundred-dollar canoe-yacht—a la Scribner."

Roast Baby.

[From the San Francisco Post.]

Several days ago, Thomas Ryan, of No. 1128 Sacramento street, was arrested on a charge of assaulting Dr. Charles W. Horner, because the latter had adopted the novel mode of resuscitating a still-born child by means of a hot stove-lid. The Coroner's attention was called to the case, and yesterday an inquest was held to ascertain the real cause of death. Mrs. B. Shepherd testified that she was at Mrs. Ryan's confinement; did not hear the child cry after its birth; went to the kitchen, and while there Dr. Horner came in, took a lid off the stove and placed the child on it; it looked like a strong, hearty child; noticed next day marks on the child's back, as if made by burn; did not notice the child breathe before the stove-lid application.

Dr. C. W. Horner testified that he attended the Ryan family four years; called to see Mrs. Ryon Tuesday last; found her in labor pain; during the day she gave birth to a child; Ryan was called in; he was drunk, and said he didn't care a d—d whether the child lived or not; asked for warm water; Ryan refused to get it; the child's body was scarcely warm; concluded that it was dead, but subsequently that it was alive; I then took a stove-lid, in the absence of hot water, and laid the child on it; put another over the chest; wrapped flannel around the lids; told Ryan his inhuman conduct would be investigated on the inquest; he then assaulted witness, knocking his teeth down his throat, and injuring his spine.

Dr. Edwin Bently testified: Made an examination of the body of the child; over and between the shoulders, and on the forearms, the surface was blistered and the inner portion charred; there were no other marks of violence; the lungs had been inflated and circulation established; death resulted from the burned back.

The father of the infant, Thomas Ryan, testified to the Doctor taking a hot stove-lid, and laying the child on it without anything between, which so incensed him, that he kicked the Doctor out of the house. The jury retired and rendered a verdict, charging Charles W. Horner with man-slaughter.

A DISABLING DISEASE.

No disease which does not confine a man to his bed so completely unfits him for business as Dyspepsia. When the stomach is foul, the brain is always muddy and confused, and as the cares and anxieties of life are a sufficient burden for the organ of thought to bear, without being tormented by the miseries born of indigestion, it is highly desirable for the brain's sake, as well as for the sake of every other portion of the system, that the disordered stomach should be restored with the utmost dispatch to a healthy vigorous condition. This object can always be accomplished by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the purest and best of vegetable specifics, which evacuates the morbid humors through the bowels, rouses and tones the torpid stomach and regulates the liver, imparts firmness to the nerves and clears the sensorium of its mental cobwebs. Persons subject to the attacks of indigestion, bilious headache, irregularity of the bowels, sickness at the stomach, or "the blues," should take the Bitters once or twice a day throughout the present season.

GREELEY AND THE SOLDIERS.

An Address that Tells its Own Story.

HEADQUARTERS VETERANS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE, FIFTH AVENUE HOTEL, NEW YORK CITY, September 25, 1872.

To the Soldiers and Sailors who served in the Union Army and Navy during the late War:

COMRADES: We, your representatives, met at Pittsburgh and adopted a series of resolutions which you have already seen. You have discovered that we expressed sentiments which are entertained almost unanimously by the veterans of the country. In view of the fact that Mr. Greeley has charged us with the desire to engender feelings of hate toward the survivors of those who were in armed rebellion against the Government, we desire to reiterate our wish that all differences may be obliterated, with this one single condition, that under no circumstances will we support a man for Chief Magistrate of the nation who, in the hour of his country's greatest danger, did not appreciate the situation, and, by words and acts, step forward to its defense.

We deny that one single word, either in the speeches or platform of that convention, justifies Mr. Greeley in the remarks which he uttered at Pittsburgh; and his entire lack of courtesy toward the soldiers and sailors who assembled there serves to confirm us in the opinion that he is quite unfit to be trusted in any capacity where loyalty to his government, a just regard for the feelings of others, and an abnegation of self is required. We believe he will live long enough to regret the slanderous utterances he made on that occasion.

It only remains for us to impress upon you the great importance of the issues which are presented to you, and to urge that you will organize throughout the entire country in harmony with the regular Republican organizations, and do all in your power to re-elect General Grant Chief Executive of the Government for four years more, and thereby complete the great work you began in 1861.
